MAYOR GAYNOR LAID LOW BY DEATH AT SEA

Chief Magistrate of Greater New York Suddenly Stricken by Heart Disease While on Health Voyage

UPSETS GOTHAM POLITICAL SITUATION

Had Been Renominated on Anti-Tammany Ticket--Death Recalls Attempt to Assassinate Him

New York, Sept. 11.—Mayor William J. Gaynor, of Greater New York, died on the steamer Baltic in mid-ocean at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon according to a cablegram received here today.

News of his death was received here in a message sent by wireless and cable to Robert Adamson, his secretary, by Rufus W. Gaynor, his son, who sailed with him.

The message read as follows:

"Father died Wednesday at 1 o'clock, due to heart failure. Notify mother."

Secretary Adamson received the cablegram announcing the mayor's death while he was at his home in Brooklyn. Mr. Adamson notified Mrs. Gaynor at the mayor's country home at St. James, and then endeavored to reach by telephone Ardolph K. Kline, the acting mayor, who will be New York's chief executive until the inauguration of Mayor Gaynor's successor to be elected in November. In this he was unsuccessful. Col. Kline had left the home of his son-in-law after an early breakfast and had not heard of the mayor's death. At 10 o'clock the flags on the city hall were half masted by Mr. Adamson's orders.

Acting Mayor is Republican.

Ardolph L. Kline, who will be acting mayor of New York till Jan. 1 next, is a resident of Brooklyn and a republican.

By virtue of his office as acting president of the board of aldermen, he took the executive chair when Mayor Gaynor sailed for Europe. Mr. Kline has served three terms in the board of aldermen. He was vice chairman of the board, elected by fusion members, when John Purroy Mitchel resigned as president to become collector of the port of New York. Mr. Kline reached the city hall at 11 o'clock and summoned the heads of departments to his office. He indicated that he would issue a proclamation during the day.

Had Severe Coughing Fits.

Lacking details of the manner of the mayor's death his friends here believed that the heart attack spoken of in Rufus Gaynor's cablegram was brought on by a return of the coughing fits that had recurred at intervals since he was shot.

Although the mayor had no presentiment that his trip would end fatally he had at different times within the last year or two told his secretary that the violence of these attacks were a great strain on hit heart and he feared that some time or other one of them might result seriously. The mayor used to speak of the irritation in his throat as a "fish hook." It was this "fish hook" probably that caused his death.

Just before he received notification of his nomination by the popular demonstration at the city hall, the mayor had been in bed off and on for about a week at his summer home at St. James. Mrs. Gaynor, with one of her unmarried daughters are at boarding school up the Hudson. The mayor's other son is at the mayor's Brooklyn home.

The mayor had two married daughters, Mrs. W. Seward Webb and Mrs. Harry K. Vingut.

At 11 a. m. Greenwich time, the wireless said the Baltic was 250 miles west of Queenstown. She was due at Queenstown at 2 a. m. Friday.

Had Kept Voyage a Secret.

Mayor Gaynor sailed away from New York, a fast failing man on the morning of Sept. 4. An hour before he sailed but one man, his secretary, knew of his plans outside of members of his immediate family. The mayor's announced purpose was a brief vacation on the ocean. He felt that the tonic effect of the salt air would restore him in some measure to health. The Baltic was due at Queenstown today. The mayor died as she was nearing the other side.

The news of his death was sent by wireless to Crookhaven by Rufus W. Gaynor and relayed from Crookhaven to New York by cable.

City in Political Turmoil.

Mayor Gaynor left New York at a time when the city was seething in one of the strangest municipal political campaigns in its history. The day before his departure he was notified on the city hall steps by representatives of the independent political organizations that they had chosen him as their standard bearer in the mayoralty campaign. A throng that crowded city hall park assembled to hear his accept. He had prepared a speech of acceptance, but was so weak that he was unable to deliver it and his secretary read it for him, the mayor standing beside him. Before the mayor sailed his secretary issued a statement denying reports of the mayor's serious illness. The recent attack of the old throat trouble, due to the wound in-

Fort Wayne to Make Effort to Secure the Stony Island Plant.

THIS CITY LOGICAL POINT SAYS BLAIR

Commercial Club Will Take Advantage of Fire at Chicago Terminal.

In spite of the fact that it is said a perpetual contract is in existence for the maintenance of the Nickel Plate shops at Stony Island, a rumor is current in Fort Wayne that a movement is to be inaugurated within a short time in an effort to bring the railroad shops to this city. The shops at Stony Island were badly damaged by fire Wednesday morning, and while the first reports of the loss are said to have been greatly exaggerated, the buildings will have to be entirely reconstructed. In view of this a number of prominent Fort Wayne business men are seeking to determine just what chance there is to locate the establishment here.

UNDERWOOD SEES THE PRESIDENT

Executive and Leader of House Discuss Tariff Bill Changes.

NEITHER WILL TALK

Washington, Sept. 11.—Representative Underwood and Senator Simmons had a long conference with President Wilson today over disputed points in the tariff bill to be discussed by the conference committees of both houses. The two democratic leaders expect the tariff bill will be in conference about ten days.

"The president merely expressed his views to us on some of the points in the bill," said Mr. Underwood.

Both men declined to tell what particulars they had taken up with the president but it was said they went into detail on features of the income tax. The president arranged to leave at 5:35 p. m. today for Cornish, N. H., the summer capital and though it has not yet been determined how long he will remain there, Senator Simmons and Representative Underwood said there was no necessity for further conference and that it was likely that on his return here the bill would be ready for signing.

Speaker Clark appointed the follow-

ROBBERS MAKE FAT CLEANING

Over $71,000 Stolen from Express Car on Coast Line Railway.

NEW YORK CASH FOR SOUTHERN BANKS

Chicago Messenger Robbed of $21,000 in Front of Bank.

Savannah, Ga., Sept. 11.—Fifty thousand dollars in transit from the Chase National bank of New York to the Savannah Bank and Trust company was stolen from a portable safe on an Atlantic coast line train between Jersey City and Savannah. It should have arrived yesterday morning. Its loss became known today.

Another package containing $21,000 from New York to banks in Valdosta and Brunswick also was robbed on the same train. The seals on the $50,000 package seemed undisturbed when the robbery was discovered here.

Express company officials here refused to talk. W. F. McCauley, president of the Savannah Bank and Trust company, confirms the loss of the $50,000 and says it was shipped out from New York Monday on train 89 of the Atlantic coast line and should have reached here yesterday at 6 a. m.

The Southern Express company has hurried officers to Savannah. W. J. Hackaday, general manager of the company, and a representative of a national detective agency from Atlanta reached Savannah this morning and began work on the case. The name of the express messenger was not made known here. The seals on the outside of the steel trunk or safe, it is said, did not show that they were tampered with. But the sealed envelopes in which the money was contained when the money left New York had been opened.

INTACT AT JERSEY CITY.

New York, Sept. 11.—The safe containing $71,000 in two packages was delivered by the Adams Express company to the Southern Express company in Jersey City, according to W. W. Pendleton, the general agent of the Adams company. The transfer was made last Monday night, Mr. Pendleton said, and at that time the safe and its contents were intact. The package containing $21,000, he said, was composed of a number of consignments to separate banks in Georgia. One of the envelopes in the smaller package contained money from the Coal and Iron National bank of New York to a consignee in Albany, Ga.

THAW'S CASE IS DELAYED

Hearing Postponed Until Tomorrow, and Meantime He Has Airing.

UNDER GUARD HE PARADES VILLAGE

Jerome is Highly Indignant at Action of Canadian Authorities.

Colebrook, N. H., Sept. 11.—The case of Harry Thaw, fugitive from Matteawan, free agent for three hours yesterday, and prisoner today of Sheriff Drew, of Coos county, New Hampshire, assumed this afternoon the familiar aspect of uncertainty and delay.

Counsel working for and against his return to the asylum agreed not to arraign him before a police magistrate until 4 p. m. and then to adjourn the case until tomorrow. He is charged with conspiring with others to bring about his escape from Matteawan and it is upon this charge that William Travers Jerome will seek his extradition.

Failing in this Jerome will contend that Thaw is insane and should be turned over to an attendant of Matteawan.

Sleuth on the Scene.

John Lanyon, private detective in New York city, who raced with Jerome all the way to Cherbrooke, Quebec, after Thaw's arrest in the Dominion, arrived here this afternoon. To meet emergencies he has been made a special attendant from Matteawan and he is waiting opportunity to gt his hands on Thaw and start with him direct for the New York line.

Followed by crowds who neither cheered nor hooted, Thaw went about the village today, accompanied by Sheriff Drew, apparently contented and hopeful.

Local counsel yesterday made plans for his release on writ of habeas corpus, but decided today that to liberate him with Lanyon and Jerome around, was a dangerous move and held the matter in abeyance.

Up Late Talking to Lawyers.

Thaw rose late this morning after spending the night in a hotel room here under guard. Lawyers kept him up until a late hour, laying plans to resist extradition to New York.

In another part of the hotel William Travers Jerome, deputized by the state to get the fugitive back to Matteawan, conferred with Thaw's most recent captors, Sheriff Holman Drew, over the court procedure to be followed today. Mr. Jerome accompanied by Deputy Attorney General Franklin Kennedy, of New York, reached town today on a special train. He had had no supper, so he chose as his conference room the kitchen of the Monadnock house, where he ate and discussed the situation. At first merely detained, Thaw was subsequently arrested on a complaint charging him with conspiracy in connection with his escape from the asylum and it was upon this charge that he was to be arraigned today before Justice James T. Carr in police court. New York was prepared to ask that he be remanded, pending the receipt of a requisition warrant.

The Thaw lawyer took preliminary steps to swear out a writ of habeas corpus in the prisoner's behalf. It was said this morning that they might not press this further and that like the Canadian counsel, who tried hard to keep Thaw in the Sherbrooke jail, they consider their client safer as a prisoner than at large. If freed again Thaw might

SULZER LOSES COURT BATTLE

Supreme Judge Holds Him Divested of Authority While Impeached.

DECLARES LOSES POWER TO PARDON

New York Governor Routed in First Fight in the State Courts.

Kingston, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Justice Hasbrouck, of the state supreme court, today decided that Gov. Sulzer was regularly impeached and while awaiting impeachment and trial was divested of the right to exercise his executive functions, including the power to pardon.

The question of the legality of Sulzer's impeachment came before Justice Hasbrouck in connection with habeas corpus proceedings brought to compel the New York city authorities to honor Governor Sulzer's pardon of Joseph G. Robin, the banker convict. He decided that Robin's pardon was invalid, squashed the writ and sent Robin back to prison at Blackwell's island.

Contention is Lost.

Attorneys representing Sulzer and Robin had argued that the impeachment was illegal because voted by the assembly at a special session, which was not called expressly to decide that question. The court refused to sustain that contention. The decision upheld the argument of the New York corporation counsel who maintained that the assembly, when it impeached, acted in a judicial and not a legislative capacity, and was properly in session.

The assembly voted to impeach Gov. Sulzer early on the morning of August 13. Although it was reported immediately that the governor would seek to overturn the assembly's action by recourse to the courts, Justice Has-

GOMPERS DEFENDS ORGANIZATION

National Labor Head Tells Committee of Work of Federation.

LOBBY PROBE QUIZ

Washington, Sept. 11.—President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, today continued before the lobby committee his story of the political and legislative activities of the federation. Gompers said since the congressional campaign of 1910 the federation's political activity has not been systematic but rather sporadic. He declared he was opposed to socialism.

Would Do Things Now.

"I believe in doing something to better things today—not tomorrow," he said. "I came to the conclusion many years ago that we should work for the better evolution of the society in which we live and not for the downfall of society."

Gompers testified that the final determination on a policy of opposition or

THERE ARE NO PARTISAN QUESTIONS IN CORRECT GOVERNMENT OF THE CITY

(By the Non-Partisan City Central Committee.)

To the Voters of the City of Fort Wayne:

No municipal question is a partisan question. The government of the city of Fort Wayne, properly administered, has nothing to do with defining or giving effect to the policies upon which the great political parties divide. The body of municipal affairs is made up mainly of a multitude of little things. Over the doing of these things there can be no division of common sense opinion that should be settled by the authority of a partisan organization. The entire list of municipal functions consists of practical performances done over and over again, year in and year out, year after year. Everything the city government does in the discharge of these functions costs money and this money is furnished by those who pay taxes. If these things are not well done, public money is wasted and taxpayers are defrauded.

There is no party question in the cleaning of streets, the disposal of garbage, the construction of pavements, the laying of sidewalks, the building of sewers, the supplying of water, the furnishing of light, the protection of the city from fire, the maintenance of order, the keeping of accounts, nor even in the levying of taxes, the collection of revenues and the making of appropriations to provide the means to do all these things. The question is to get them done with an efficiency that will give the people the municipal service their needs require, the services they pay for, the services they have a right to demand. These are the acts that make up far the larger part of the legislative and executive administration of municipal affairs. They will be done in the best way only when they are treated on their merits and not as partisan questions.

One of the great principles of the Non-Partisan movement is that the people of Fort Wayne shall unite to choose the kind of men who can and will do these things in the best way for the city. Partisan government is made up of men who have sought office for its pay, or the political powers it confers and often for reasons more sinister and mercenary. The Non-Partisan movement would put an end to that. It would put men in office who will serve the city and its people with no other purpose than the highest welfare of all. It would divorce the government of the city wholly from partisan politics so that municipal rule would be concerned only with doing well what it is created to perform. The partisan agencies opposed to this program want spoils in office, the power of place the influence of patronage, the dispensation of unlawful indulgences. Possession of government and control of its favors will permit them to exploit Fort Wayne for themselves and the larger political machines that have no right to meddle with our affairs of home rule. The Non-Partisan movement is against misrule, exploitation and interference—and so are you.

HUMAN RACE ON ITS LAST LEGS

Dr. Kellogg Declares the Birthrate Shows Man is Dying Out.

SCIENE IS AT FAULT

Colorado Springs, Col., Sept. 11.—Statistics purporting to show that the human race gradually is becoming insane and the prediction that the time will come when there will be no more births, were features of an address before the American Public Health association here today by J. H. Kellogg, of Battle Creek, Mich. According to Dr. Kellogg's view the birth rate is decreasing in a manner that ultimately will bring it to the vanishing point. The achievements of modern science, the speaker declared, are bringing about race degeneracy. "To regain our lost estate," he added, "we should get back to nature. We must cultivate health instead of disease."

BLOODY CLEWS ARE PICKED UP

Detectives Looking for an Armenian in New York Mystery.

MAN HAS VANISHED

New York, Sept. 11.—H. Bolian, an Armenian carpenter, and his daughter were sought today by detectives to shed light upon the identity and death of the young woman, portions of whose body were found in the Hudson river within the week. Both the man and the girl had disappeared. Bolian and his daughter lived within a block from the stores where were purchased the pillow and the paper wrapped around a portion of the body. Tenants of the building in which they made their home said that Bolian and the girl had not been at their apartments for several days. Bolian's shop on Seventh avenue was closed.

The clew which led detectives to Bolian's apartment was a shirt badly stained and discolored, which someone sent to a laundry in the neighborhood a week ago. The laundrymen thought the LELAND WILKINS has recovered from his lameness. Nevertheless, he is still sore—mentally.

Young Mr. Wilkins holds down a good position in the auditing department of the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company. His duties are somewhat confining; therefore, he has not had the opportunity for athletic exercise which he once enjoyed and which, during his school days, gave him recognition as a leader in some lines of physical endeavor. It was, therefore, with some misgivings that Mr. Wilkins found that on the occasion of the recent big annual picnic of the employes of the company at Robison park there were to be a series of athletic events. He wanted to enter, but he recognized his out-of-training condition. He decided, however, that as the date of the outing was a couple of weeks distant, he would have time to get into training. He fitted up apparatus in the rear of the Wayne Coterie home—Berry street and Fairfield avenue—of which he is a member, and worked hard to get into trim.

To one of the boys who was watching him in his exercises, he confided the fact that he was going to enter into one class of events only—the jumping contests. "I was a record-breaker in school," he explained, "and I'm going to save up my strength for the jumping events only."

The unusual exercise unfitted Mr. Wilkins for his office work, to a certain extent. It seemed as if every muscle was about as painful as it could possibly get. Even when the day of the outing came he was somewhat sore and uncomfortable. Nevertheless, he proceeded to the park with the rest of the athletes and audience, firmly determined to carry off the honors in the jumping contests.

Getting into trim.

On the day after the big outing a friend of Mr. Wilkins asked him how he felt.

"Still sore," said he, "but I'll be all right in a few days."

"How did the jumping contest come out?"

"Why," he explained, with a sickly smile, "they—they didn't have any."

KESSLER WRITES ABOUT PROGRESS

Says He is Glad That Fort Wayne is Making a Showing

LETTER IS GIVEN

George E. Kessler is of the opinion that Fort Wayne is making progress in the matter of beautification and has written the following letter to the park board:

"Acknowledging your letter of August 28th, together with the several plats.

"I was very much interested in the sketches, all of them showing that you are really making material progress. While all these things are necessarily slow and, to us who are active in accomplishment, do not progress as fast as we might wish, yet the time consumed in acquisition is only a very short period in the life of a city. It should always be borne in mind that these betterments become permanent factors and very much more far-reaching in their beneficial results than is usually understood. Therefore time consumed in the initial stages is well worth while.

"I hope the widening of Rudisill will give you an early opportunity for actual construction. This boulevard work will bring the first and quickest money returns to the contiguous and adjoining land owners, and it is only fair that it should, inasmuch as these people pay the bills, and not the city as a whole.

"I am entirely satisfied with your treatment of affairs on Broadway at the corner of Rudisill, although I had hoped that Mr. Fisher had surrendered a little more land. Anthony is certainly of value and I am pleased to see its extension. As to the use of Annie street, west from Anthony to the St. Joseph's river, if you can secure that at 100 feet in width, you are very wise in shifting from State. I had feared the use of State on the grounds of mixed use, traffic and pleasure highway, and unless this could be obtained under enthusiastic support, I am rather glad to see you surrender State street.

"It is interesting to see that you are again proceeding along the stream banks. The sketch showing the St. Joseph's river bank indicates excellent progress. There is one caution that I want to impress upon you that will have considerable influence on the good appearance of your stream bank improvements when these improvements are completed. You have in Fort Wayne fallen into an exceedingly bad habit of building your bridges to the edge of the stream banks, cutting off these bridges at the very earliest moment that you land on high ground. This forces your designers to omit approach walls and proper slope from the roadways along the streams down to the water's edge. On paper these things at first do not seem important, but you will find that these pinched conditions will lead to permanent regret if you do not secure more ground between stream bank and outside edge of private property side of the highways along the streams.

"I appreciate the fact that there are many people unable to see any value in embellishment. Usually this is the very class that cries the loudest when its ideas of pinching economy are carried to conclusion. The really patriotic citizen is too frequently silent and yet must help to overcome the economies, so-called, that come from ignorance or penury. You could not do a worse thing in Fort Wayne than to lay down mere levees along the streams and upon these place narrow trails and call them roads. Your principal future asset in good appearance is along the streams. It is only a question of a reasonably short time in the life of a city when this will be appreciated and accomplished, even at very considerable cost.

"You are doing so much in the right direction, that I sincerely hope your people will give your board reasonable support in carrying out your projects.

"Sincerely yours,

"GEO. E. KESSLER."

MATERIAL TRACK IS IN THE WAY

Pennsylvania Company Will Take It Up Within a Few Days.

NOTES OF CITY HALL

Officials of the Pennsylvania company have consented to remove by September 15 the material track that was put down some months ago to convey supplies used in the construction of the new passenger station on Baker street.

These officials at first demurred when the question of removal was first submitted and stated that in a short time the heating parts for the heating system the heating parts for the heating system wanted the track to convey them to the new building.

However, the board insisted on immediate compliance for the reason that the track crosses Harrison street at the point excavations will have to be made for the separation of grades and the city's portion of the work can not be done until the rails and ties are out of the way.

To facilitate matters for the city the Pennsylvania company consented to remove the spur within the next few days.

Preparing to Enter Suits.

City Attorney Harry G. Hogan is today preparing to enter suits against owners of the property wanted for the east-end park which lies contiguous to the south end of the new Coombs street bridge. At the meeting yesterday of the park board a map was supplied and the names of the owners are given as The Fort Wayne Smelting and Refining Co., owns 9:35 acres; Amelia Stahlhut, 6.00 acres; August Wolf, 4.96 acres; Charles S. Bash, 1.5 acres, all unplatted; Thornton E. Fleming, lots 1 to 6 White's Sixth addition; Allen county, lots 7 to 18, White's Sixth addition; John H. Eckles, lots 24 to 28, John H. Vesey's addition; Amelia Krause, lot 23, John H. Vesey's addition; Mrs. John H. Vesey, lots 19 to 22, John H. Vesey's addition, and Amiel Wolf, lot 18, John H. Vesey's addition.

All owners except the Vesey estate are asking prices for their holdings that the board regards as exorbitant and for that reason condemnation will be resorted to.

The board will have constructed a portable band stand, on wheels, which can be moved from one park to another next summer when band concerts are to be given.

The engineer was instructed to prepare plans for sidewalks on the east side of Broadway, from Dayton avenue to Rudisill boulevard, and on the north side of Rudisill boulevard, from Beaver avenue to Broadway.

Anthony boulevard, from the Maumee river to Lake avenue, will be 100 feet in width, the improvement company owning the affected lots having reported to the board yesterday that it had all but accomplished the replatting of the property so as to make the widening of the thoroughfare possible.

All of the interested public service corporations are preparing plans and estimates for placing under ground all wires in the territory bounded by Harrison, Clinton, Columbia and Washington streets and when they are ready they will be submitted to the board of public works.

Then a conference will be held and the work started in this territory with a view of gradually extending it.

Taking Care of Garbage.

Superintendent Homer Krick, of the garbage plant, states that he has been able so far to take care of all the material delivered but that it has been necessary to use every available facility and to work day and night to accomplish the task.

MAYOR GAYNOR LAID LOW BY DEATH AT SEA

flicted on August 9, 1910, by James J. Gallagher just as he was about to leave this city for a brief vacation in Europe, had entirely disappeared, according to Mr. Adamson, and the mayor expected to return and enter the campaign with his old-time vigor.

The mayor himself, just before leaving, spoke of his condition as follows:

Was Expected to Attack Tammany.

"I have been nearly four years mayor, and have not yet had any vacation. I suppose almost everybody will concede that I may have one now. I have been laid up a few days with one of the sharp attacks I occasionally have from my mishap of a few years ago, but I am now over it and hope I shall never have another."

He was expected to attack Tammany Hall sharply, politically, as soon as he returned to the city. Before his departure he issued a characteristic statement levelled at Tammany Hall leaders and other political opponents in which he referred to them as "miserable scamps" and asserted that they were seeking his "moral assassination."

The bullet that lodged in his throat three years ago had never been removed. It was the mayor's plan to remain abroad less than a week. He expected to sail for New York from Liverpool on Sept. 18 and to reach this city a week later.

Overturns Political Situation.

Mayor Gaynor's sudden death completely overturns the municipal political situation. It removes from the field a candidate for mayor who was expected to cut heavily into the vote of the fusion nominee, John Purroy Mitchell, and leaves only the tickets nominated by the democrats and the fusionists. The former is headed by Edward E. McCall, former chairman of the public service commission of this district. The mayor's renomination was brought about by no particular political faction or party, but represented only his personal popularity. Politicians who discussed his death today expected that his followers would make no attempt to nominate a candidate in his place. No other places on the Gaynor ticket have yet been filled.

Tammany Turned Him Down.

Mayor Gaynor was placed at the head of the independent ticket after Tammany Hall had refused him a renomination. He was to lead those who opposed the regular democratic organization and yet were unwilling to join the fusion of republicans and progressives. His standard was the dovel, reminding voters of his efforts to hasten the building of the new subways. The mayor also said it was emblematic of his intention to "clean the grafters out."

The passing of Mayor Gaynor recalled the sudden death of Henry George, of single tax fame, and a third party candidate, almost on the eve of the New York mayoralty election sixteen years ago.

Attempt to Assassinate Him.

Mayor Gaynor's death recalls the attempt on his life made by an assassin at Hoboken in August of 1910. On this occasion the mayor had decided to take a brief vacation abroad under much the same circumstances as those under which he left here recently. He was standing on the deck of the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Gross, talking with friends and the center of a group of city officials at the time.

Into this friendly gathering James J. Gallagher, the would-be assassin, made his way unobserved. When close to the mayor he drew a revolver and fired. The bullet penetrated Mr. Gaynor's throat. He suffered from this serious injury for many weeks, but finally recovered to a sufficient degree to enable him to resume his duties and was apparently none the worse for his experience until recently when the wound began to trouble him again. Gallagher had been dismissed from the dock department of the city of New York, under Mayor Gaynor, and had repeatedly endeavored to induce the mayor to reinstate him. For his crime he was sentenced to twelve years' imprisonment. After little more than a year in prison he was transferred to the New Jersey state hospital for the insane at Trenton and died there last February.

Sketch of Mayor Gaynor's Life.

William J. Gaynor was born on a farm near Whitestown in New York in 1851. He had to help the family in its struggles for existence and in this fight he had to take time for his own education. He graduated from the Whitestown seminary, went to Boston to teach school and afterwards studied law in the office of Ward Hunt, of Utica, who later became a justice of the supreme court of New York. In 1887 young Gaynor went to Brooklyn and became a newspaper reporter. Two years later he was admitted to the bar.

From that moment until his death Mr. Gaynor had lived in the midst of continual political warfare. He entered it with an attack upon the unlicensed saloons in Flatbush, a section of Brooklyn, and won. Ten years later he led a successful fight against a so-called McLaughlin ring in Brooklyn. His battle against John Y. McKane, boss of Sheepshead Bay and Coney Island, attracted nation-wide attention. McKane died in Sing Sing.

Gaynor was elected a justice of the supreme court in New York in 1903 on a nomination given him by republicans and independent democrats, was re-elected in 1907 but resigned to accept the nomination for mayor of New York city, to which he was elected in November, 1909. His career as mayor of New York bore the imprint of his personality in many striking innovations. As he expressed it: "I never quarreled with the organization leaders because I was too busy. I simply went on and did my work from day to day and I kept their hands out of the public treasury.

Mayor Gaynor was a writer of many letters and attracted national attention by these and his politics. Prior to the democratic national convention at Baltimore in June, 1912, the mention of his name was frequent in connection with the democratic nomination for president. He did not have the support of the democratic organization in this state, however, and was not an active candidate for the honor.

LEADER MURPHY SHOCKED.

New York, Sept. 11.—Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, whom Mayor Gaynor, just before sailing, had scathingly denounced as chief of the forces opposing him, had this to say upon learning of the mayor's death: "I was very much shocked. I knew he went away a very sick man. I deeply regret his death."

NEWS REACHES LONDON.

London, Sept. 11.—The news of the death of William J. Gaynor, mayor of New York, on board the steamer Baltic while at sea yesterday was received at the White Star line offices here today in a brief wireless message from Captain Ranson, the commander of the vessel. Commander Ranson added that the body was being brought to Liverpool.

BRYAN PAYS TRIBUTE.

Washington, Sept. 11.—"Mayor Gaynor was a strong man with a genius for public life," said Secretary Bryan today on learning of his death. He was strong not only in the sense that he showed ability in the discussion of public questions but his sypathies were broad and his heart was enlisted in reform. His place will be hard to fill. I am distressed to learn of his death."

eral Agent S. K. Blair declared that Fort Wayne has always been regarded as the logical point for these shops. He said, however, that he was in no position at this time to discuss the plan in detail because of conditions surrounding the contract at Stony Island. Mr. Blair has been informed that officials of the company are today viewing the ruins of the buildings and have not made a definite estimate on the loss.

The contract in existence now is the result of negotiations consummated even before the road was completed. Ex-Senator Brice, who died some years ago, C. R. Cummings and Brown, Howard & Co. originally owned the land upon which the shops are now located. Upon condition that the shops would always be maintained at Stony Island, a strip of right of way about four miles in length was given the company.

Even now, it is said, there is a suit pending against the company resulting from an alleged breach of contract. It was understood that the main shops were to be located at Stony Island, and the suit followed the establishment of additional shops at Conneaut, O.

Commercial Club Interested.

Officials of the Fort Wayne Commercial club declared today that if there is any possible chance of the company locating its Stony Island shops, no time nor expense will be spared in an attempt to bring them to Fort Wayne, and the club with others will take the initial steps in gaining information about the proposition. Secretary Charles L. Biederwolf, of the Commercial club, declared that he would confer with Mr. Blair about the project this afternoon.

The shops at Stony Island employ about 500 men during the entire year, and it is said that practically all of the railroad company officials admit that Fort Wayne is the logical point for their location. Previous attempts to locate the shops here have been made, even while the road was yet uncompleted and before the shops were erected at Stony Island.

ATTACK CURRENCY BILL.

Washington, Sept. 11.—The constitutionality of the administration currency bill in its present form was attacked by Representative Prouty, republican, in the house debate. His principal objection was the provision requiring national banks to furnish twenty per cent. of their capital and five per cent. of their deposits as a capital for the federal reserve banks. He made a long argument that to force banks to supply the capital would be confiscation.

SENATE POSTPONES PROGRAM.

Washington, Sept. 11.—After an ineffectual attempt to agree on a legislative program for next week, the senate put the question over to Monday and those senators not engaged in the tariff conference or the West Virginia mine probe quit the town for the mountains and sea shore for the week end.

BONES OF PERRY'S HEROES AT REST

Solemn Ceremony Marks Removal to Crypt in Put-in-Bay Monument.

GOVERNORS ON HAND

Put-in-Bay, O., Sept. 11.—With solemn religious services, participated in by representatives of the United States and the British empire, and with impressive military exercises, the remains of the six American and British officers killed in the battle of Lake Erie one hundred years ago yesterday were today disinterred from the burial plot on the shore of Put-in-Bay Island, where they have reposed for a century, and re-interred in the crypt of the Perry Memorial. This ceremony marked the conclusion of the centennial celebration of the battle of Lake Erie, commemorating one hundred years of peace between English-speaking peoples, under the auspices of the commissioners appointed by the president of the United States and the governors of Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, New York, Rhode Island, Kentucky, Minnesota and Louisiana.

The preparation for transferring the remains had been in progress for some time. The whole of the burial enclosure, where the remains were known to be without designation of the particular spot, had been excavated over a circular area sixty feet in diameter. Such bones of the martyrs as had survived a century's interment were found to be numerous, but there was no complete skeleton and no means of identification. The remains had been gathered up several days ago and placed in a copper-lined, hermetically sealed box, and then re-interred in the same spot, awaiting today's exercises.

Sacred Relics Are Removed.

Upon the arrival of the centennial commissioners, distinguished guests and the military and naval escorts of the official party from Cedar Point at 11 o'clock this morning, a procession formed at the docks and proceeded to the ancient burial plot. The copper box, containing the remains, had been taken from its shallow resting place, and a detail of Rhode Island militiamen lifted it to the beautiful funeral bier which had been prepared for its reception. While this ceremony was in progress solemn religious exercises were conducted by Rt. Rev. James DeWolf Perry, jr., bishop of Rhode Island, representing the United States, and the Venerable Arch Deacon H. J. Cody, D.D., L.L.D., rector of St. Paul's church, Toronto, for the Dominion of Canada.

Bells Toll; Guns Boom.

The spectators, covering every spot of ground in the ten-acre grove at Put-in-Bay and reaching far away along the shore lines of the harbor, stood with uncovered heads in profound silence. Bells tolled in the village churches and minute guns were fired from the naval militia ships in the harbor. The First Light Infantry band of Rhode Island sounded the opening note of a dirge as the funeral bier, beautifully draped in black satin and silk American and British flags, moved, on the shoulders of sturdy soldiers from Rhode Island, Commodore Perry's native state, toward the memorial along the road skirting the picturesque harbor of Put-in-Bay.

Col. Harry Cutler, commanding the First Light Infantry of Providence, R. I., was marshal of the day.

Congress of Governors.

The funeral bier was preceded by an honorary escort composed of the following:

Chief marshal, honorary staff and aides; band, First Light Infantry regiment, Rhode Island militia; ex-President William Howard Taft and Dr. J. A. MacDonald, Toronto, Ont., escorted by the general officers of the inter-state board of the Perry's Victory Centennial commissioners; ambassadors and representatives of foreign governments; Gov. James M. Cox, Ohio, and staff; Gov. John K. Tener, Pennsylvania, and staff; Gov. Woodbridge N. Ferris, Michigan, and staff; Gov. Edward F. Dunne, Illinois, and staff; Gov. Francis E. McGovern, Wisconsin, and staff; Gov. Aram J. Pothier, Rhode Island, and staff; Gov. James B. McCreary, Kentucky, and staff; Gov. Samuel L. Ralston, Indiana, and staff; members of the inter-state board of the Perry's Victory Centennial commission; officiating clergymen; Rt. Rev. James DeWolf Perry, jr., bishop of Rhode Island, and Venerable Archdeacon H. J. Cody, DD., L. L. D., rector of St. Paul's church, Toronto, Ontario.

Bones Placed in Crypt.

Arrived at the memorial reservation, only a limited number of the escorting party were admitted to the memorial proper. The crypt of the memorial, a dome-like chamber forty feet in diameter, was draped with the American and British colors. The box containing the remains, draped in the same international insignia, had been taken from the funeral bier and carried up the broad temporary stairway leading to the entrance to the memorial. Commissioners of the centennial, representatives of the United States and Great Britain, governors of states and distinguished guests stood with bowed heads as the century-old bones of the heroes of the battle of Lake Erie were committed to their last resting place beneath the floor of the great memorial now rising in their honor.

JOHNSTON AFTER MONEY AND GRIP

Says Wayne or Brown Took Him to New Orleans and Robbed Him.

WAITED A LONG TIME

If William E. Johnston's complaint, filed in the circuit court today against T. H. W. Brown, can be verified before the judge and jury, he may get back some of the property he alleges he was robbed of, but he will have to admit that he was an easy mark for the man he is seeking to recover $250, a suit case and a gun from.

Johnston is a California man and he alleges that in 1907 he met Brown, who was then known as T. H. Wayne, and that after they had known each other for a long time Wayne, or Brown, represented that he had a rich uncle in Honduras who could set both up in business that would prove lucrative and on this representation obtained a deposit of $250 in gold.

He alleges that the two started for Honduras and got as far as New Orleans when Brown got up first one morning and departed, taking with him not only the $250, but a gun and a suit case. The gun is valued at $30 and the case at $16.50.

For six years Johnston has sought his man and alleges that he has recently located him in Fort Wayne, where he is connected with a correspondence school. Ballou, Hoffman and Romberg filed the action.

Notes of the Courts.

Judge Carl Yaple returned today from his vacation and relieved William C. Ryan, who has been presiding for two months in the superior court.

In the suit of the Continental Insurance company against O. M. Bradley, a superior court jury found for Bradley. The company sought to recover on a note for $125.

A change of venue has been asked in the suit filed by Cornelius Decker against the Fort Wayne Brick and Tile company.

Ivory Pfeffer was elected captain at the organization last night of the Ahoit township branch of the Allen County Protective association. David Forsythe was elected secretary and treasurer.

The divorce suit of Bernice Drewett against George E. Drewett, was on trial all day in the superior court before Judge Yaple.

The divorce suit of Susie E. Brown against Edward E. Brown has been dismissed.

THAW'S CASE IS DELAYED

be seized by Attorney John Lanyon, a private detective who has been working with Jerome, and hustled across the New York state line as a lunatic. Lanyon was due to arrive here today.

Jerome and Kennedy Indignant.

Both Jerome and Kennedy were indignant at the action of the Canadian authorities who put Thaw over the border yesterday.

"We had no inkling of it," said Jerome today. "To say the least it was a high-handed piece of work. It was neither fair to Thaw, a lunatic, nor to the state of New York.

"Moreover, it upsets the principles of justice based on the habeas corpus act and I do not doubt that it will result in more or less of a scandal in Canada."

Mr. Kennedy was more emphatic: "It was contemptuous and cowardly," he said. "If those who put Thaw across the line thought that they were giving him an even break in setting him down with no American officers in sight, they failed to look at the other side of the case. There was Thaw, a lunatic, turned loose with only the clothes on his back, short of funds and with no means of transportation save the automobile he commandeered from a newspaper man Thaw is not a sane man. That has been proven time and again. This made it more pitiable. It was a terrible thing."

In Fear of Kidnaping.

Thaw retired about midnight and far from objecting to the presence of Deputy Sheriff Kelsea, insisted that other guards, too, sit near the door. Two armed detectives dozed in rocking chairs just outside the room, the door was left ajar and a light was kept burning in the hall all night. Thaw was fearful of what he called strong-arm work. After his experience at Coaticook yesterday nothing would surprise him. Jerome's presence filled him with terror. The unwelcome taste of liberty yesterday, with its incident thrills and responsibilities, left him trusting entirely to counsel and making few suggestions. Thaw himself does not know except in one case the identity of the three men who caused him to be set down over the line at Norton Mills. The man he does know is Parkinson, chief of the Dominion secret service, and it was at Parkinson's head Thaw hurled the heavy glass tumbler. The hotel corridor here had the appearance of a convention time this forenoon. The Manadnock house lobby, headquarters for the pro-Thaw and anti-Thaw forces, were crowded.

stains might be blood. They told detectives that the garment had come from Bolian.

This, with the finding of a woman's undershirt, blood-stained at the neck and waist, furnished the principal leads the detectives were following today. The woman's shirt was washed up on the river bank not far from the spot where a part of the body was found. A human leg believed to have been that of the victim also was found yesterday at Keansburg, N. J., twenty miles from the body. The head, arms and the other leg are still missing.

seized a satchel containing $4,800 in currency and $10,000 in checks from Warrington McAvoy, 18 years old, a messenger of the Garfield Park State Savings bank, and escaped in an automobile. The robbery occurred on the sidewalk in front of the bank, which is on the west side.

The bandits accomplished the theft without the display of a revolver.

McAvoy had stepped out of the door of the institution with the money and checks in a small satchel and was waiting for a street car when the four drove up in the machine. He was taking the package to a downtown bank.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

MAN BLIND FROM INFANCY MAY SEE

Charles Carpenter, Formerly of Ossian, Will Submit to Operation to Restore Sight.

Bluffton, Ind., Sept. 11.—Charles A. Carpenter, a former citizen of Ossian but now a resident of Lafayette and well known here, is in Bluffton visiting friends. Mr. Carpenter has been blind from an early age, but will go to Chicago in October to submit to an operation that it is hoped may restore his sight. It will be his last chance to see, for if the operation does not succeed he will have his useless orbs removed to obviate further painful trouble they give him.

"Charlie" Carpenter is a character widely known. His genial manners, fine humor and story-telling have made him a favorite in every community where he ever has lived. He is a telegraph operator, a fairly good typesetter, a charming writer and a poet of no mean ability. His power of getting around without aid has been marvelous. While residing in Indianapolis some years ago he became so familiar with that city that he not only could go where he liked unattended but knew the streets, the landmarks, the places of interest and the directions and distances.

While he was agent for the L. E. & W. railroad at Ossian he once greatly astonished a stranger who wanted to get up town from the depot one dark night by piloting him over a route made perilous by a stilted sidewalk that was in very bad repair. He carried a lantern and directed the visitor how to avoid the danger places where boards were gone from the walk. It was not until the stranger had reached the little hotel in Ossian that he discovered his alert and faithful guide was blind.

Mr. Carpenter is widely known in the circles of the Knights of Pythias and some of his poems dealing with Pythianism are widely known. He has for some years been interested in commercial college work, but purposes to engage in some other pursuit. For a time he will visit in Bluffton, Ossian, Fort Wayne, Montpelier and Hartford City, in which cities he has many friends.

HORSE STOLEN FROM FARMER.

Decatur, Ind., Sept. 11.—Gottlieb Hanna, a farmer residing in French township, near the Adams and Wells county line, appears to be the loser of a valuable horse that disappeared from his barn some time Tuesday night. The animal is a black four-year-old and weighs about 1,250 pounds. It has a white spot just above the hoof on the left hind leg, a scar on left front shoulder and a white spot in the forehead. Mr. Hanna was able to trace the animal until it had crossed the river near his home, where all trace was lost. He is offering a reward of $50 for the return of the horse.

WILL NOT LET PASTOR GO.

Decatur, Ind., Sept. 11.—At the congregational meeting of the Zion's Lutheran church, on West Monroe street, the congregation voted unanimously against the release of the Rev. H. Wehmeyer, who had been called to the pastorate of the Allen county church, succeeding the Rev. Franke, who is to retire on account of old age. Rev. Wehmeyer's congregation absolutely refused to grant the release, and he will thus remain here. Rev. and Mrs. Wehmeyer have been here the past four years and during this time have endeared themselves very much to their congregation as well as other friends.

BREAK GROUND FOR NEW BANK.

Kendallville, Ind., Sept. 11.—In the presence of bank officials and members of the Jacobs and Keller families, ground was broken for the handsome new building to be erected on Main street as a home for the Noble County bank. The first shovelful of earth was lifted by A. M. Jacobs, president of the bank. Loosening the ground with a pick he took the shovel and scooped out the first earth. Once this simple ceremony was over the contractor, George Diggins, and his force of men started immediately to excavate for the foundation work. When completed it will be the finest bank building in any city in the west the size of Kendallville.

INTENSE BURNING AND ITCHING

Scalp Red and Inflamed. Would Scratch and Rub. Lay Awake Nights. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in Short Time.

333 South Scioto St., Circleville, Ohio.—"My little girl's trouble first started on her head in a bunch of little pimples full of yellow-looking matter and they would spread in large places. In a short time they would open. Her scalp was awfully red and inflamed and the burning and itching were so intense that she would scratch and rub till it would leave ugly sores.

The sores also appeared on her body, and her clothing irritated them so that I had to put real soft cloth next to her body. She would lie awake of nights and was very worrisome. At times she was tortured with itching and burning.

"I tried different remedies with no benefit for months. I had given up all hope of her ever getting rid of it, then I concluded to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The second application gave relief. I first bathed the parts thoroughly with Cuticura Soap and then applied the Cuticura Ointment and in a short time she was entirely cured." (Signed) Mrs. Alice Kirlin, Nov. 4, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment do so much for pimples, blackheads, red, rough skins, itching, scaly scalps, dry, thin and falling hair, chapped hands and shapeless nails, that it is almost criminal not to use them. Cuticura Soap 25c. and Cuticura Ointment 50c. are sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

DAVES IN THE RIBS OF CALLING PARSON

Homer Smith, of Cromwell, Objects to Visits of Rev. Smith to Read Scriptures to Mother.

Cromwell, Ind., Sept. 11.—Homer Smith, of this place, objected to the visits of Rev. Smith, an Adventist minister, to his mother's home to read the scriptures to her and he objected so strenuously that he is now held to appear for trial on a charge of committing a deadly assault.

Meanwhile Rev. Smith is laid up with injuries that will confine him for a long time and probably result in permanent harm.

Homer Smith had made repeated objection to the visits of the minister, whom he charged with trying to get his mother to join the Adventist church. He returned home under the influence of liquor, it is said, and found Rev. Smith in the house. He jumped on the minister, knocked him down and beat and kicked him with shocking fury. Rev. Smith's jaw was fractured, two of his ribs broken and one of his kidneys was loosened. He is under a doctor's care and in a serious condition.

Smith was arrested for assault and battery and gave a $500 bond and was then re-arrested charged with deadly assault.

COOK FINDS HIS MOTHER.

Long Search Begun in Huntington Ends Minneapolis.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 11.—A search by a young man for his mother that began in Huntington has ended successfully in Minneapolis. Earl Charles Cook, kidnapped from this city by his father twenty-five years ago, has finally found his mother after a hunt that has lasted many years and taken him into many parts of the country. Cook was here in July to begin anew the search that had ended in disappointment many times before. He had resolved to take up the quest for his mother at the point where he last had seen her. While here he met a cousin of his mother, who had recently had a letter from her. Cook went to Minneapolis, where he found her as Mrs. Gertrude Kramer, wife of a wealthy merchant. She had been divorced from Cook and had remarried, her second husband learning for the first time when the son appeared that his wife had been married previous to her union with him. While living here twenty-five years ago George Cook, who was a railway official, and his wife, quarreled and he left her, taking young Earl to Akron, Ind., where the lad went to school until 15 years old, when he resolved to find his mother. He has prospered meanwhile and is now the head of a hotel and restaurant company in Bloomington, Ill., where his mother is now visiting him.

SEEK HERMAN CASTERLINE.

Former Fort Wayne Man's Children Public Charges at Hartford City.

Hartford City, Ind., Sept. 11.—Probation Officer Frank Messner is trying to locate Herman Casterline, whose two children, Helen, aged 7, and Wanda, aged 4, have been staying at the Little home, in West Franklin street, for the past month. The oldest child was put into school at the order of the probation officer.

Casterline and his wife are divorced, but some time since, it is said, she went to Fort Wayne, where he was with their daughters, and brought the children to this city. She then went to Muncie, leaving the children with the Little family, whom she was to pay $2 a week as board for the tots. She came back, paid $2 and left for Cincinnati, nothing being heard from her since. When the decree of divorce was made, Casterline was given the custody of the children. If he cannot be readily located now, it is likely the children will be made wards.

CONTINENTAL HAS BIG FIRE.

Delphos, Ohio, Sept. 11.—Continental, a village north of Delphos, which has suffered heavily in the past few years by fire, has just had another serious conflagration in which five business rooms were destroyed. The fire broke out about 9:30 in the morning, and its origin is not known, though it is not believed that it was the work of an incendiary. The business rooms destroyed were occupied by the Lou Killen grocery, a barber shop conducted by Ora Rice, Mrs. William Ham's millinery store, and two rooms used as an agricultural and hardware store by Wm. Ham. Two families residing on second floor of block lost all household goods. The building was owned by William Ham, Ed. Dongler and Bert. Luffel. The loss is estimated at $20,000, which was partially covered by insurance.

REV. M'BRIDE TO CALIFORNIA.

Bluffton, Ind., Sept. 11.—Rev. Guy McBride, who has been making a short visit in Bluffton as the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McBride, has gone to Warsaw for a few days' visit with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fitch and family. From Warsaw he will leave by way of Chicago for Pacific Grove, Cal., where he will attend the meeting of the California M. E. conference, at the suggestion of Bishop Hughes, formerly of this state. From Pacific Grove he will go to Long Beach, where the Southern California conference will be held, beginning October 1. At this conference he will be transferred from the Northern Indiana conference, of which he has been a member for some time, and will be assigned to a charge by Bishop Hughes, who will preside at that gathering.

SPIDER BITES CHILD'S EYE.

Decatur, Ind., Sept. 11. Clarence, little son of Mr. and Mrs. August Longerich, of Washington township, is under the care of a physician here, suffering from a poisoned and badly inflamed eye that was bitten by a spider. The physician believes that no permanent ill will result from the bite of the venomous insect.

U. B. CONFERENCE IN SESSION.

Great Gathering of North Indiana Ministers at Waterloo.

Waterloo, Ind., Sept. 11.—The sixty-ninth annual session of the St. Joseph conference of the United Brethren churches is now fully under way here with a full attendance of ministers and the presence of several hundred visitors. Altogether there are five hundred delegates in attendance. Three sessions are held every day and the conference will last until the 17th inst.

Last night there was a special song service led by R. G. Upson, the musical director of the conference, and an address by Prof. Honline. The report of the preachers' aid department was read by its president, Rev. George F. Byrer, pastor of Calvary U. B. church in Fort Wayne.

This morning at 9 o'clock Bishop Fout, of Dayton, Ohio, who presides over the conference, delivered the annual sermon, taking for his theme, "Religion and the Home."

This conference is the largest of the three in Indiana. It covers the north half of the state, and has a membership of twenty-five thousand. There are 126 active pastors engaged in the work and many of them supply several charges. In the early days of this denomination the work of establishing churches was confined mostly to small towns and country districts, but of late years the denomination has been getting a strong footing in the larger cities. Years ago the U. B. pastors arrayed themselves against secret and fraternal associations and fought lodges and in turn the lodges turned their influence against them. Today it is different and one of the ministers referring to this phase of the church attributed its recent growth in the cities to the liberal ideas that prevailed among the ministers and members on the question of lodges.

BEGAN DIVORCE SUIT LONG AGO.

Decatur, Ind., Sept. 11.—Mrs. Jennie Kirkwood was granted a divorce here from Lewis Kirkwood. The custody of the child, Garnett, was given to its grandfather, William Kirkwood, until the further order of the court and the mother is to have the privilege of visiting the child and having it in her possession at its home at all reasonable times. The costs of the case are adjudged against the plaintiff. A peculiar feature of this case is that it was filed in 1908 and did not come to trial until yesterday, after it had been on the docket almost six years.

DESERTED IN TROUBLE'S HOUR.

Portland, Ind., Sept. 9.—Apparently abandoned by not only friends but relatives especially members of his immediate family, Harry E. Slack, held in the county jail to await trial on charges of a serious nature. The only relative that has called to see him is his aged father-in-law, who has offered no assistance. It is claimed that Slack is being deserted in his hour of trouble by his wife, the mother of his nine children. It was his alleged misconduct with his eldest daughter, Dessie M. Slack, aged 16 years, that caused his being held for trial.

DRILL FOR OIL NEAR GENEVA.

Geneva, Ind., Sept. 11.—Oil operations in this vicinity are commencing to boom as the operators are looking for an advance in the price of crude. Ed Kraner is drilling a well on the Lally farm, in Jay county, for Muncie parties, which will be completed the latter part of the week. Hardison is drilling on the Warren striker farm, near the corporation limits, which will be finished in the next ten days. The Limberlost Oil company is building a rig on the John Snyder farm and will commence to drill before the end of the week.

DUST NUISANCE AT GENEVA.

Geneva, Ind., Sept. 11.—Owing to the prevailing drought in this vicinity, the dust nuisance is the worst it has been this year. Even on the stone roads it is from one and a half to two inches deep. The double track system on which the roads here are built seems to be wrong, as the dust in the dirt road is about three inches deep.

GRAND JURY IS CALLED.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 11.—A summons has been issued for the meeting of the Huntington county grand jury next Monday, when the jurors will appear in court and instructed. Prosecutor Kreig and Deputy Sapp are said to have a bale of subpoenas to issue and the grand jury session is expected to be a busy one. Many violations of the criminal laws will be probed.

NEW HAVEN NEWS.

New Haven, Ind., Sept. 11.—Nicholas Snyder has sold his farm of 80 acres, east of town, to George Ginther, of Monroeville, and has purchased the V. H. Blaising home here. He is to give possession of the farm in the spring and will then become a resident of New Haven.

To Darken Hair Apply Sage Tea

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Thickness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair, dust a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.—Adv.

Lesson in Scientific Complexion Renewing

(From The Family Physician.)

Everyone has a beautiful skin underneath the one exposed to view. Bear that in mind and it will be easier to understand the correct principle in acquiring a lovely complexion. Nature is constantly shedding the top skin in flaky particles like dandruff, only much smaller in size. In abnormal conditions, or in advancing age, these particles are not shed as rapidly as in robust youth. The longer they remain the more soiled or faded they become—that's the immediate cause of a "pad complexion."

It has been discovered that ordinary mercolized wax, to be had at any drug store, will absorb these worn out particles. The absorption, while hastening nature's work, goes on gradually enough to cause no inconvenience. In a week or two the transformation is complete. The fresh, healthy hued, youthful underskin is then wholly in evidence. You who are not satisfied with your complexions should get an ounce of mercolized wax and try this treatment. Use the wax nightly, like cold cream, washing it off mornings.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Ezra 9:4-15.

4 Then were assembled unto me every one that trembled at the words of the God of Israel, because of the transgression of those that had been carried away; and I sat astonied until the evening sacrifice.

5 And at the evening sacrifice I arose up from my heaviness; and having rent my garments and my mantle, I fell upon my knees, and spread out my hands unto the Lord of God.

6 And said, O my God, I am ashamed and blush to lift up my face to thee, my God: for our iniquities are increased over our head, and our trespass is grown up unto the heavens.

7 Since the days of our fathers have we been in a great trespass unto this day; and for our iniquities have we, our kings, and our priests, been delivered into the hands of the kings of the lands, to the sword, to captivity, and to a spoil, and to confusion of face, as it is this day.

8 And now for a little space grace hath been shewed from the Lord our God, to leave us a remnant to escape, and to give us a nail in his holy place, that our God may lighten our eyes, and give us a little reviving in our bondage.

9 For we were bondmen; yet our God hath not forsaken us in our bondage, but hath extended mercy unto us in the sight of the kings of Persia, to give us a reviving, to set up the house of our God, and to repair the desolations thereof, and to give us a wall in Judah and in Jerusalem.

10 And now, O our God, what shall we say after this? for we have forsaken thy commandments.

11 Which thou hast commanded by thy servants the prophets, saying, The land, unto which ye go to possess it, is an unclean land with the filthiness of the people of the lands, with their abominations, which have filled it from one end to another with their uncleanness.

12 Now therefore give not your daughters unto their sons, neither take their daughters unto your sons, nor seek their peace or their wealth for ever: that ye may be strong, and eat the good of the land, and leave it for an inheritance to your children for ever.

13 And after all that is come upon us for our evil deeds, and for our great trespass, seeing that thou our God hast punished us less than our iniquities deserve, and hast given us such deliverance as this;

14 Should we again break thy commandments, and join in affinity with the people of these abominations? wouldest not thou be angry with us till thou hadst consumed us, so that there should be no remnant nor escaping?

15 O Lord God of Israel, thou art righteous: for we remain yet escaped, as it is this day: beheld we are before thee in our trespasses: for we cannot stand before thee because of this.

Bluff and Bluster Affright None

The war of noise, ill-temper and detraction waging against the non-partisan movement and the citizens enlisted in it is bluster and bluff. It is designed to intimidate and drive off of the field such as have distaste for the violent and belligerent in political contest. This gives all the more reason why every citizen who has the good sense to believe in a sane and temperate method of getting at and disposing of municipal questions should stick to his colors and press to the front. It may be for the time not pleasant, but the thing has got to be done at some other time if not now, and with the battle already opened and conditions auspicious there is no good course for anybody but to hold ground and fight his best to the end and take the victory that awaits.

Fort Wayne has got to crawl out of this slough of partisan war and partisan government. It is not an easy task to pull out of the mire after having for so many years wallowed in it. There are some who like the wallowing and others who profit from it. But the great majority of citizens detest it and are ready to come up out of it, get cleaned off and enter upon a course of entire civic respectability. The achievement will not be difficult if all who believe that way will make their actions consist with their belief and leave the minority of others to vote as they spout or as they are told.

For some weeks there has been a spectacular and exaggerated staging of a spurious and absurd question. About it has been raised a perfect simoon of dust and a bedlam of clatter. Do not be blinded to truth by the one or deafened to wisdom by the other. The people of Fort Wayne know well enough that the issue in this campaign is the rule of a united citizenship against the blight of spoils and the infamy of law-breaking control. Let these aspects of the contest be kept in mind and thought upon.

Happily for the people's cause there are no signs of fear, no portents of doubt, no reports of lagging or desertion. On the contrary there is increase of courage, rise of confidence and a daily host of new enlistments. This fight for the greater and better Fort Wayne can and will be won.

President Wilson appears to have more in mind for congress than fooling around throughout his entire administration getting tariff and currency laws passed. The tariff measure is practically out of the way. The currency bill has been started on its legislative course and will be made the law before the special session ends. President Wilson will have the decks cleared for the regular session the first of December and then perhaps there may be worked out a trust law that will bust trusts, a child labor law that will protect infancy from a rapacious industrialism, a comprehensive measure of inland waterways development and something done to betide a greater conservation of natural resources. With the tariff and currency disposed of there will be possible quite a procession of healthy and helpful things that a diligent and adroit leader like Woodrow Wilson knows how to get out of congress.

Mr. H. Thaw's first coherent and intelligible words after he had caught his fleeting breath and roped his stampeded wits was to damn the summary processes of Canadian law. Mr. H. Thaw, under stresses of the moment, appears to have altogether failed to take into account that the Canadian laws were framed and are administered primarily in the interest of Canada. Wherefore—but what's the use?

PRIZES FOR DRAGGING ROADS.

(New York Independent.)

A movement which promises many beneficial results has just been tried out by the people of Stuart, Iowa, and vicinity. The merchants of Stuart offered to give $5 worth of merchandise to every farmer of the surrounding country who came to town with his team hitched to a drag on a certain day. Each merchant contributed a value of approximately twenty-five cents' worth to each farmer and when the twenty lots of that amount were collected a varied assortment was the result. There were coffee and cigars, hosiery and hair tonic, a buggy whip, a bottle of olives, a ring of bologna, a can of salmon, a pail of ice cream, a package of nails, breakfast foods and many other things. The entire lot comprised the $5 worth given to each drag driver and after all there was very little that did not possess real, practical value for the recipient. In addition a cash prize of $5 went to the man who had come the farthest and another to the one having the best drag, and another for the finest team. The First National bank gave each man his dinner free and a local liveryman fed all the teams without charge.

The Stuart Commercial club originated the idea of the double purpose of inducing people to come shopping from a long distance and to improve the roads leading out from the village in all directions. During the day a total of over 100 miles of roads was dragged and thus smoothed down for the May and June rains to settle and pack. One man obtained the longest distance prize for coming ten and one-half miles, and another was a close second at ten miles. The greater part of the day was consumed in going this twenty-one miles round trip. The farmers themselves decided on the prize winners for best team, best drag, etc., by voting.

A committee from the Commercial club attended to giving the goods and prizes and looking after the immense crowd that poured into town from miles out. The results have been highly favorable and the state highway commission has indorsed the movement, advises its continuance and its adoption in other communities and has promised its aid in helping it on wherever in the state it may be tried.

ASKS INSPECTOR HERE FOR VISIT

Mayor Grice Seeks Inspection of Fire Alarm System.

NOTES OF CITY HALL

Mayor Jesse Grice today wrote a letter to State Fire Insurance Inspector M. Sellers, of Indianapolis, asking him to visit Fort Wayne as soon as possible to make an inspection of the improvements to the fire alarm system with a view of eventually securing the approval of the National Fire Underwriters' Inspection Bureau, which recently found fault with the fire protection.

Since the inspection was made a new auto chemical and auto hook and ladder wagon have been added to the department, over 6,000 feet of fire hose has been purchased and a number of water extensions have been made and twenty-three new alarm boxes installed. There also have been thirty new fire hydrants put in to help the case.

In addition to that red lights have been placed at the corners where boxes are located and telegraph poles have been painted red to enable citizens to quickly turn in calls to the department in cases of fire.

Connecting pipe lines that eliminated dead ends have been put down and most of the recommendations of the inspectors have been carried out. This is important as it means a reduction in the cost of fire insurance and the letter was written with a view of obtaining any concessions that the inspectors may feel justified in granting after they have looked over the field.

Electrician Robert Gaskill is anxious for the inspection as he believes that the state and fire inspectors will be ready to approve the system as it now stands. He has connected up the boxes with heavier wires and is ready to take on fifty more boxes as rapidly as they can be installed. About $7,000 has been spent in wiring alone.

Berning—Langer.

Miss Lillian Langer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Langer, of 733 West Third street, and Mr. Clarence Berning, a machinist in the Pennsylvania shops, were married on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the parsonage of Trinity English Lutheran church, by Rev. Samuel Wagenhals. The bridesmaid and groomsman were Miss Hulda Koenig and Mr. Martin Berning, a brother of the groom. After the marriage service the bridal party went to the home of the bride and met during the afternoon about thirty-five friends and relatives who showered them with congratulations and good wishes. The bride made a very pretty appearance in a white crepe de meteor gown made over silk. She wore a wreath of roses in her hair and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. Miss Koenig was gowned in white with lace trimmings and a pink sash, pink slippers and gloves and she wore a wreath of pink roses and held a bouquet of roses of the same color. The decorations of the bride's home were extremely pretty and tasteful. Garlands of smilax hung from the chandelier to the corner of the bride's table and in the center was a handsome frosted cake which was wreathed in smilax and pink and white asters. Many asters decorated the house. The bride and groom will make their home with Mr. and Mrs. Langer.

ADENOIDS ARE A MENACE TO CHILDREN.

Babies and young children must be carefully watched for the growth of adenoids, which spoil the mental and physical life of a child. They usually result rom a succession of colds and throat irritations, and their presence is so productive of harm, that many school boards have an examining physician to detect them. The conditions that cause them may be easily avoided by careful parents. Quickly and thoroughly cure all colds and throat irritation by the use of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and adenoids will not develop. Dreier Drug Co.—Adv.

A CHILD DOESN'T LAUGH AND PLAY

If little stomach is sour, liver torpid and bowels clogged.

Give "California Syrup of Figs" at once—a teaspoonful today often saves a sick child tomorrow.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that it's little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs;" then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled!—Adv.

IT WAS SOME FALSE ALARM.

Hundreds of People Rush to Pennsy Shops When Siren Screeches.

For about five minutes, beginning at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, the entire city was aroused by unusually shrill screeches from the Pennsylvania siren, which is used to call out the men when a fire is discovered about the company's yards or buildings. Hundreds of people rushed to the shops, expecting to see a repetition of the conflagration of Tuesday. Three companies of the city fire department were called to assist the Pennsylvania volunteer company, when it was found that somebody had purposely turned in a false alarm. The fire department has started an investigation, hoping to apprehend the person guilty of "pulling" the alarm box.

PAIR OF INDIANA WOMEN VICTIMS

Cole, Arrested at Ann Arbor, Has Wives in Huntington and Laporte.

STILL A THIRD ONE

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 11.—When informed by local authorities last night that a warrant had been issued charging him with bigamy, David Cole, 48 years of age, confessed to the prosecuting attorney in the presence of several witnesses that he had three wives living. He was married a fourth time, he said, according to the authorities, but that wife died. "I don't care whether I live or not," said Cole. "If I am sent up for bigamy, I shan't live long." The bigamy warrant was the third issued for Cole's arrest. He was first taken into custody at Racine, Wis., Saturday on a grand larceny charge preferred against him by a local hotelkeeper. Then Mrs. Edith Alespach Cole, of Huntington, Ind., whom court records show he married in Toledo June 16 last, had a warrant sworn out alleging desertion. Rumors to the effect that Cole had several wives living came to the authorities Tuesday anad when they secured evidence of an incriminating nature yesterday, Cole's latest wife signed the bigamy complaint.

The other women, the authorities say, Cole married, are Mrs. Jane Hamilton at Marion, Ky., July 16, 1910, and Grace Brand at Laporte, Ind., May 21, 1912. The name of the dead woman was not made public.

Two 'Bus Barn Mules Start to Stables Alone and Cause Excitement.

Two lop-eared and lanky mules hitched to a baggage wagon belonging to the Fort Wayne Transfer company were left standing near the corner of Wayne and Harrison streets early today while the driver attended to some business in one of the nearby buildings. Tired of waiting, or else in a hurry to get back for breakfast, the animals by mutual agreement started east on Wayne street at a lively pace and headed straight for the barns and started to turn in, when somebody shouted to them. That made them angry so they decided to go some place else and continued their wild run down the street, but were finally halted on Clinton street by one of the barn employes who hooked onto the rear of the wagon.

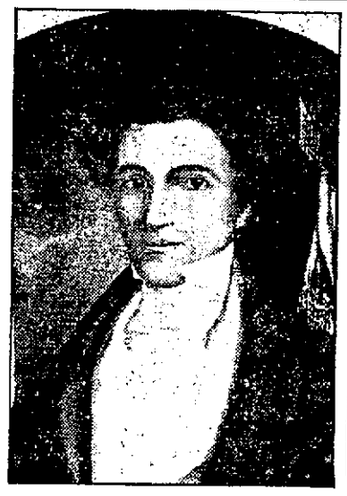
"GRANDMA" CAROLINE BOURIE FERRY, A PIONEER OF FT. WAYNE OBSERVES HER 99TH BIRTHDAY.



LUCIEN P. FERRY
Husband of "Grandma" Ferry as He Appeared When Married.

"GRANDMA" FERRY IN 1831.
This is a Likeness of Mrs. Ferry at Time of Marriage.

"GRANDMA" CAROLINE FERRY,
Pioneer of Fort Wayne Celebrated Her 99th Birthday.

When Fort Wayne was nothing more than a wilderness and when Indians camped and held their pow-wows on land that is now occupied by Calhoun street, the principal thoroughfare of the city, Caroline Bourie, now familiarly known as "Grandma" Caroline Ferry, was brought to Allen county by her parents. She was then three months of age and was one of the comparatively few white babies in this part of the state. Yesterday Grandma Ferry was ninety-nine years of age, and the anniversary of her birth was quietly observed at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Minnie Orvis, of Decatur.

Mrs. Ferry was born just one year after the famous victory of Commodore Perry on Lake Erie, and yesterday, while the centennial celebration of Perry's battle was being observed at Put-in-Bay, she sat in an easy chair and called to mind some of the interesting and history making incidents that have come and gone during her ninety-nine years. Quiet in body, but active in mind, she clearly calls attention to some of the prominent personages and events that she remembers her mother to have talked about.

Born in Detroit.

Mrs. Ferry's maiden name was Caroline Bourie, and she was born in Detroit, Mich., September 10, 1814. Her mother was an exceedingly dignified and aristocratic woman and was respectfully called "Lady" Bourie, or "Mother" Bourie, being quite a highly esteemed character in the community.

She was a very strict matron, of the colonial type, of dignified and reserved bearing. She and her family were quite well acquainted with Commodore Perry. A short time before the naval battle, Lady Bourie walked down to the docks where a number of the rival ships to be used in the battle were being painted. One, the Queen Charlotte, was having its hull painted black. Lady Bourie asked a young lieutenant (Grandma does not remember his name, except that his given name was "Will") why they were painting it black, whether it was because it was going out into a fight. The young lieutenant responded, "We are going to show them what we can do." He was one of the first ones on the boat to be killed. The boom of the battle, with its terrible noise, could plainly be heard by the Bourie family, though they lived far away.

Relic in Fort Wayne.

One of the cannon used in the battle is now in Fort Wayne, being used as a hitching post by Mrs. Fairbanks, a granddaughter of ex-Mayor Randall, to whom it was given. Later it will be given over to Fort Wayne's relic department.

When Grandma was three months old she came with her parents to Fort Wayne, and is one of its oldest pioneers. When the family came there the now great city was nearly a wilderness inhabited by Indians, and she remembers when Indians camped in what is now Calhoun street, where the court house now stands. Her family was very friendly to the Indians and Grandma can recall some very interesting stories of Indian life.

When she reached girlhood she was sent to Detroit to school, and while there met Lucien P. Ferry, a young lawyer of Monroe, Mich., to whom she was married when she was seventeen years old. They came to Fort Wayne to live, upon Grandma's importuning, and there Mr. Ferry continued his law practice.

Grandma, who still retains much that suggests her former lithe activeness and bright vivacity, evidenced by the bright sparkle of her eyes, which are seemingly as good as ever, was quite a beauty, as an oil painting of her done by Artist Rockwell, of New York, when she was twenty years of age, shows. A companion painting, the likeness of her husband, done at the same time, was destroyed in a fire that consumed their home, but they have left a photograph taken from the picture that shows the noble, distinguished features of her husband. He came from the French nobility, his father having been an aide-de-camp to Napoleon. A painting of Lady Bourie is also among the valued possessions of Mrs. Ferry and with others occupies a place on the walls of the McMillen hall.

Many Visitors Call.

Many friends called yesterday and offered their congratulations to this venerable pioneer of the early days of Fort Wayne and Allen county. Numerous letters of congratulation also came for her, and among them was one from a granddaughter, Mrs. Mae Siebler de Ferry, of Strassburg, Germany, now at her country home in the Black Forest. Handsome presents were also sent in great number to Grandma Ferry.

Grandma is unusually strong this year, having fully recovered from two severe illnesses in the past several years. Her mental faculties are very bright and her memory especially of far distant events, is exceedingly active. She keeps abreast of the times also, in reading newspapers and books, and takes much pleasure in all that transpires daily. It is a great pleasure, as well as an education, to hear Grandma Ferry talk.

Given Birthday Cake.

One of Grandma Ferry's many gifts was a beautiful, large, white-frosted loaf of angel food cake, made and presented by Mesdames Mary Crawford and W. A. Knebler. As it was impossible to use ninety-nine candles on the cake, the figures were outlined in red candles, which were also used on the edge of the cake, making a very attractive appearance.

AT THE TEMPLE

The new bill opening at the Temple today will be headed by Mermaida, the diving venue, and her mermaids in the greatest novelty in vaudeville. Other features on the bill will be McNish and McNish, those two jolly fellows; Capros Brothers, in their equilibristic novelty; Graham and Randall, in a comedy dramatic satire, "A Gay Old Boy;" Keough Sisters, in a singing and dancing novelty, and the photo-plays complete a most attractive bill.

AT THE JEFFERSON

The Jefferson is offering "Robespierre" in three reels. This picture deals with an incident in the French revolution and is unusually interesting. Starting tonight Bingham and Thornton open a three-day engagement in a novelty, "Rag-time to Grand Opera," introducing the latest rags and popular songs and selections from the operas. Don't forget the big show Friday night, an all-star bill of four acts.

AT THE EMPRESS

Not since the advent of the Empress into the local amusement field has it presented a bill that has commanded the widespread and favorable comment that the current one has. The old day of the Barnum method of show business has gone and it requires a pretty big amusement value nowadays to gain recognition. Vaudeville tastes have also changed and patrons of today favor legitimate comedy rather than the "slap stick and selzer bottle" kind. The splendid reception accorded the serious little drama, "Happiness," headlined at the Empress now, is proof positive of the fact that better things are enjoyed. While as "Nobody" announces, "folks relish a tiny bit of seriousness," this symbolical playlet is by no means a dry sermon. There is besides plenty of laughable comedy on the bill and novelty also.

Friday night will bring another bunch of amateur performers, always a happy feature of the Friday night performances at the Empress.

Remarkable Price Making on Ladies Fall Suits

Women who are interested in popular priced suits for Fall will do well to see the charming designs that one of our enterprising firms is showing.

This firm, which, by the way, extends the privilege of a charge account to those who desire to pay conveniently has decided to double its business on popular priced suits.

With that end in view the buyer for the Menter Co.'s large chain of stores contracted for a quantity of popular priced suits, so large that it brought the manufacturers' price down to a trifle over cost of tailoring.

Keen-eyed women will note at a glance the unusual values that such severe price making offers and will be benefited thereby. Handsome Fall suits are offered at $15, $16.50, $18, $20 for cash or on easy weekly payments as the buyer may choose. The Menter store in this city is at 107-109 W. Berry street.

CHILDREN'S TOILET ARTICLE.

Do not let children become lax in toilet niceties. Cleaning the teeth, manicuring, proper care of the hair and complexion should all be insisted upon from earliest childhood until such matters are inculcated as habits and are practiced voluntarily.

A point which falls upon the mother to attend to, unless she has a competent nurse, is the question of towels, face cloths and tooth brushes for the individual members of her family.

As soon as the child needs toilet articles, that is, from the day of its birth, it should have a separate supply. A scarcity of towels and face cloths is inexcusable, but many mothers are thoughtless in the matter of towels and face cloths. It is a good idea to have initialled towels for each child, the girl being taught to do the letters in cross stitch as a pleasant task.

"Three Garments Enough for Any Woman

MRS. LILLIAN STUART, DRESS REFORMER.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 11.—"I wear but three garments," says Mrs. Lillian Stuart. "They are a waist, a skirt and a union suit."

It isn't betraying any confidence to tell it, because Mrs. Stuart herself blurted it right out in public the other day at the school hygiene congress in Buffalo. She is proud of her simple costume, and wants all women to adopt it.

She is president and founder of the Stuart School of Dress Education. She went to the Buffalo congress as Mayor Kiel's personal representative and as a delegate from the Missouri branch of the Congress of Mothers.

The other delegates gasped when Mrs. Stuart appeared before them in her three-garment suit, supplemented by a loose cord about the waist and a pair of sandals.

And stockings, of course. They're not garments, but only accessories. And, speaking of stockings, Mrs. Stuart has this to say:

"Right and left stockings are just as essential as right and left shoes. Every night, if necessary, hang the right stocking on the right bedpost and the left one on the left bedpost; but, however, you do it, use right and left stockings, and don't get them mixed.

"As for shoes, feet that are cramped and distorted will make a woman age faster than anything else. The high heels throw the body out of poise and cause nervousness. The pointed toes, wherein there is scarcely room for two toes, throw the bones out of their natural order, impede the circulation and bring on nervous disorders.

"Off with the heels, and spread the toes out! Big feet are no disgrace; small feet bring on break-downs."

Mrs. Stuart also has definite reform notions regarding those other "instruments of torture," corsets and collars.

"With nearly every corset worn," she declares, "the woman carries approximately three and a half pounds of steel. Her body is girded with armor which clasps her ribs and draws them in tight. There is no room for expansion.

"Clothing should not only serve the body, but should give the soul room to develop and be free. No soul can be free if its waistline is eight inches too small, its feet pinched and its neck restrained by a collar that would fit a giraffe in evening dress."

USEFUL THINGS TO KNOW.

For cleaning an oriental rug this method is very good: First beat the rug with a rattan beater, then brush thoroughly with a whisk broom to remove dust beaten to the surface. When this is finished, to brighten the colors go over the entire surface with a stiff brush dipped in warm water and ammonia and a little white soap. After doing this you will find the results very satisfactory.

Keep a piece of sand paper above the sink and use it to clean pots and pans with. It is very good.

When the inside of a silver teapot starts to tarnish the following idea is very good to make it look like new: Put a large piece of washing soda into the teapot and fill with boiling water. Then boil it for one hour over a spirit lamp, and you will find it will become as bright inside as out and the soda will not injure the silver in any way.

To clean wicker chairs and tables use oxalic acid, and with an old tooth brush dipped in this, brush the stained parts well. Then rinse the article thoroughly, first in clear warm water and then in cold. Be sure to destroy the brush after using, as oxalic acid is poisonous.

There are many household uses for brown paper. One is to spread brown paper on the table before cutting vegetables. Another is to wipe up stains on the stove with waste paper. Mix paper and mucilage together for a floor filler. Sew into two layers of cotton for stair pads.

For removing flower pot stains from the window sills, fine wood ashes are excellent.

When stockings become stained from the leather on the inside of shoes, add one teaspoonful of borax to the water they are washed in. It removes the stains without any difficulty.

AVOID THE BRONCHIAL COUGHS OF EARLY FALL.

The changeable weather of early fall brings on bronchitis and a hard cough that is wearing on the system, and seems to tear open the bronchial tubes and mucus lining of the throat. Use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound promptly. For it will soothe and heal the inflamed mucus lining, relieve the cough quickly, and help to expel the cold. It contains no opiates. Get the genuine in the yellow package, and refuse substitutes. Dreier Drug Co.—Adv.

Oil Cucumber Pickles.

One hundred small cucumbers (size of finger). Slice very thin without peeling. Sprinkle with one cup of salt and allow to stand three hours. Add six medium onions, sliced thin. Drain. To a quart of vinegar add one cup of best olive oil, two tablespoons of yellow mustard seed and two tablespoons of celery seed. Turn over pickles and put into cans.

Mixed Pickles.

Three hundred small pickles; six green peppers, sliced; four heads of cauliflower, pulled to pieces; nine large onions, sliced; two quarts of string beans, cut in small pieces; two quarts of silver skin onions; one quart of green tomatoes, sliced; two quarts of lima beans. Boil beans and cauliflower until tender. Put all together and sprinkle with one pint of salt. Let stand twenty-four hours. Drain three hours. To two quartes of vinegar add two cups of sugar, one-quarter pound of white mustard seed, one teaspoon of powdered alum. Heat to boiling point. Add one cup of dry mustard, blended smooth with cold water. Heat again to boiling point, turn over pickles that have been placed in jars. Seal at once.

Ripe Cucumber Pickles.

Slice three dozen large yellow cucumbers in two-inch slices. Boil them for fifteen minutes in three quarts of weak vinegar and one-half cup of salt.

Take one gallon of cold vinegar and add one tablespoon each of onion juice, ground horseradish, ginger, half tablespoon each of ground cinnamon, black pepper, paprika, celery seed and one-half pound of sugar. Put all in kettle and simmer two hours. Put in glass jars and seal while hot.

Cold Cucumber Pickles.

Wash pickles and put in jar. Cover them with strong salt water (one cup of salt to two quarts of water). Let stand over night.

The next morning drain and wipe dry. Place in crock. Over them pour one cup of dry mustard mixed to smooth paste with little vinegar. Add two cups of brown sugar. Beat all to smooth paste. Ad done gallon of good vinegar, turn over pickles cold. Keep plate and weight on top of pickles and keep under vinegar. Will keep all year.

Pickled Cauliflower.

Four heads of cauliflower. Separate into small pieces and add one cup of salt and allow to stand over night. Put in colander and drain. Rinse with cold water. Tie one-quarter of a cup of mixed spice in bag and boil in two quarts of vinegar with two cups of sugar. When vinegar is boiling drop in cauliflower and boil ten minutes, stirring, that all may be cooked. Put at once into cans and cover with hot vinegar and seal.

Do not pack too full or the flourettes will lose their shape.

English Pickles.

Take one dozen dill pickles, peel and slice in thin slices. Put in granite pan with layer of pickle and layer of light brown sugar until all is used. Sprinkle with mixed spice. Put in pan of water. Set over fire and simmer four or five hours. Do not boil. A few bunches of fresh dill may be added.

Toledo Pickles.

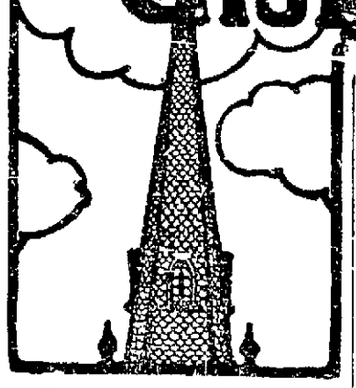
Put into granite kettle with one quart of vinegar, one heaping cup of brown sugar, a tablespoon each of salt, black pepper and mustard seed, half teaspoon each of ground allspice and cloves. Stew altogether until tomatoes look clear and are tender. Put in glass jars and seal while hot.

IN THE CITY'S CHURCHES



SPEAKS TO LARGE CROWD.

Rev. (Catch-My-Pal) Patterson Tells of Temperance Work.

More than 500 people were present last night when Rev. Robert J. (Catch-My-Pal) Patterson, of Belfast, Ireland, gave an address in the First M. E. church. He told of the work of the Catch-My-Pal Total Abstinence society in Ireland and several other countries. During his talk Rev. Patterson asked all those who wished to see all the saloons of the city wiped out to stand, and every person in the audience arose.

One of Rev. Patterson's remarks was: "While I have been in the United States I have heard more profanity than at any other time in my life. It seems that the people of this country think that the name of God is to be used for profane purposes rather than a sacred name." That he is not favorably impressed with the ways of America was shown by the following: "I am going back the second week in October to my native land by way of Canada so that I will be able to throw off some of the American ways and take on more of the English ways before I arrive home."

NEAR RIOT WITH RAPID MAN HUNT

Foreigners Capture Couple of Thieves and Call the Police.

HAD FILCHED MONEY

Two foreigners registered at police headquarters under the names of Mike Miller and Sam Antonovitch caused a near riot and a rapid-fire man hunt at Thayer and Smith streets just before noon and were captured by their fellow countrymen and most of $35 they had stolen was recovered.

They went to the boarding house operated by Anton Kovatch and said they wanted to arrange to stay there. After they came to terms they hung around and when Mrs. Kovatch went to a grocery she left her pocket book with $35 in it lying on a table.

She returned and gave the alarm and Miller was caught before he could escape. A big crowd gathered and the police were called. Joe Degitz found a near riot in progress when he got there with the wagon and he rescued Miller and locked him up. The purse containing $15.50 was found on him and when he was searched $4 in silver dropped from his hat.

Then the foreigners started a hunt for the other man. The territory was carefully surrounded and a search resulted in his capture and he was sent in and had the rest of the money in his possession.

Dunlap Makes Confession.

Andt Dunlap, who lives on Nuttman avenue, near the Broadway bridge, was arrested today by Detective Sergeant Pappert and confessed that he had stolen a bank containing about $10 from the home of William Mosshammer, 836 West Creighton avenue, and had also taken $3 from the pocket of a pair of trousers. He was seen about the place and had asked there for a pair of shoes.

SULZER LOSES COURT BATTLE

brouck's decision today was the first ruling made by any court on the legality of the impeachment.

The Questions Raised.

Arguments on the validity of the writ of habeas corpus were heard here Monday. The questions raised were, first, whether Governor Sulzer was impeached and, second, whether he was divested of his powers pending trial.

"The subject of impeachment," says Judge Hasbrouck, "like the power of a legislative body to punish for contempt, has a different character from a subject requiring the action of both branches of the legislature and the governor in order that law may be enacted.

"The power conferred upon the assembly to impeach the governor is a judicial power. The power of impeachment, therefore, cannot be participated in by the governor or senate, and therefore does not constitute a legislative subject."

GOMPERS DEFENDS ORGANIZATION

support by the federation toward congressional candidates was made by himself, Vice President James A. O'Connell and Secretary Frank Morrison.

In few cases, he said, did that committee go further than furnish a record of votes by the candidates on bills affecting labor. Exceptions were made where men showed a particular hostility to such measures or a particular friendliness. Active participation in a campaign, he said, was taken by the federation only when it was requested from labor workers in a district.

Never Promised to Deliver.

Gompers denied that he had promised to swing the "labor vote" of more than 2,000,000 to any one in the national campaign of 1908. He said he couldn't and wouldn't attempt to deliver that vote.

"No official of the American Federation of Labor can command or order any one to do anything," he said. They may advise and suggest and recommend, but that is all."

FLORENCE WELLS INJURED.

Tumbles from Bicycle and is Rendered Unconscious for a Time.

Florence S. Wells, aged fourteen, a daughter of W. S. Wells, of 1336 Park avenue, supreme organizer for the Benevolent Order of Buffaloes, fell from her bicycle Wednesday evening at the corner of Brackenridge and Baker street and sustained a blow on the head that for a time rendered her unconscious. The little girl is a student at the Fort Wayne high school, and with a number of friends had started down town to purchase school supplies. Dr. E. M. Van Buskirk dressed her injuries, which were found to be not of a serious nature.

THOMAS A. EDISON ILL.

West Orange, N. J., Sept. 11.—Thomas A. Edison, the inventor, is ill at his home in Llewellyn Park. For the first time in eight years he was unable today to go to his laboratory, a short distance away. Edison is suffering from a cold which he contracted while motoring in New England and an attack of indigestion. It is said that he is not seriously ill, Mr. Edison is 66 years old.

A YOUNG SINGER BECOMES A RICH MAN

A young singer suffering from indigestion consulted the greatest European doctors and was told by a French specialist of a vegetable which had wonderful digestive properties. The singer made up a sauce in which he put much of this vegetable, which not only aided the digestion, but also took the place of any other sauce for table and kitchen use, and was delicious. This was shown to the great cooks of Europe and it was pronounced by them to be a wonderful sauce for seasoning in the kitchen and also when used on hot and cold meats, fish, salads or soups. A company was immediately formed to manufacture the sauce, which was called "Waw-Waw" (an obsolete South American word for vegetable), and so great was the immediate success that it has been supplied to all the principal homes in England, Russia, and is to be found in all parts of the world. Letters have been received from well-known people stating how Waw-Waw has aided their digestion. It gives a flavor to food that is unexcelled. Waw-Waw contains no water, coloring matter or preservatives and is guaranteed absolutely pure. A 25-cent bottle from your grocer will suffice to show how much more you will enjoy your food by adding Waw-Waw in the soups, cooking and with cold or hot meats, fish and salads, and at the same time see how very easily you digest your food.

74TH REGIMENT MEETS IN CITY

Sixty-Six Veterans Are Here for Twenty-Ninth Annual Reunion.

BUSINESS HELD LATE

Sixty-six members of the Seventy-fourth Indiana Regiment Veterans' association are attending the twenty-ninth reunion of that organization in session today at the assembly room of the court house. The entire morning was spent in social activity. No business is scheduled until late this afternoon, when officers will be elected and a place chosen for holding the next meeting.

The retiring officials are: President, William Kinerk, of Fort Wayne; secretary, W. F. Peddicord, of South Haven, Mich.; treasurer, B. W. Carr, of Warsaw, Ind.

This regiment was recruited in the Tenth congressional district of Indiana. Eight companies were mustered into service August 21, 1862. The total death number of the regiment during the war reached 270 and during the rebellion the regiment participated in battles at Mission Ridge, Dallas, Ken Mountain, Lost Mountain, Peach Tree Creek, Atlanta, Jonesboro, Rocky Creek church and Munfordsville.

BATTERY B HOME FROM FORT RILEY

Boys Return at Noon Today After Twelve Days in Kansas.

GOOD TIME REPORTED

Eighty-six battery B boys returned home at 12:40 o'clock today from drought-y Fort Riley, Kan., where they have been attending a camp of instruction and target practice for the past twelve days. The boys have nothing but praise for the way they were looked after at the government testing station, and all had a good time. They are proud of the fact that the local battery sent eighty-six men, while batteries A and C of Indianapolis, mustered that number together.

Lieutenant L. S. Wood said on his return today that the discipline of battery B at the camp was excellent, and the boys made as good records in the target practice as any others present. There was practically no sickness on the trip, except one man, who became ill on the train, and another who had his foot injured at the camp. The boys report that the dust in Kansas was six inches deep until Tuesday night, when a heavy shower fell. There had been no rain before then since last May.

A mascot was brought back by the boys. Said mascot was picked up in a creek near Fort Riley, and was found wallowing in the shallow water. One of the members of the battery solved the problem of feeding the little animal when he bought a bottle with a nipple attached, and a pint of milk. The mascot is a little "razor back" pig, and it is figured out that he will make a good feast for the members of the battery about Christmas time. His name is "Riley."

NO TROUBLE TO GET DRINKS.

Two Youths in City Court on Charges of Public Intoxication.

Lloyd Mead, aged 18, and Lawrence Sutter, aged 16, faced Judge Mungovan in the city court this morning on charges of drunkenness and testified that they secured drinks in several saloons last night and were not questioned as to their ages. The boys rented a horse and buggy and became noisy about the streets. They were arrested at Baker and Calhoun streets at 11:40 o'clock last night.

The case against J. B. Bickel for selling unwholesome provisions was dismissed.

Arthur Baker, charged with assault and battery on his wife, was acquitted. The couple promised to make up and forget their differences. Frank Crowe was acquitted of child neglect. The family will move to Detroit within a few days.

Harry Fernwalt not only got drunk last night but swore on the street, and drew $5 and costs this morning. Pat O'Brien got eleven days to sober up on before going back to the county infirmary. Frank Grennan and Dominick Higgins each got eleven days for getting drunk too often. Emmett Walker, an offensive negro, was sent to jail for eleven days for loitering.

AL WICKLAND IS KEPT ON ROSTER

Strikes Lucky Berth and is Playing Good Ball for the Reds.

WAS IN MOST GAMES

Al Wickland has had a better chance to make good than any of the recruits sent up from the Central league this season as he struck a berth with a club hopelessly in the rut and perfectly willing to try out any promising material that might be thrust upon it.

He had also the advantage of being an outfielder, where he was not as much in the limelight as if he had been either a pitcher or a catcher, and his native ability is asserting itself and he is making so good that he is being retained by Manager Joe Tinker at the top of the Reds batting order.

Wickland is having his second try at major league company, and the midget outfielder has improved to such an extent that there is an excellent opportunity for him to stay in select company, and in any event it is not likely that he will ever return to class C baseball.

Cy Pieh may also profit by conditions on the New York Americans and will probably get a chance to show as soon as he gets city broke. Frank Chance is engaged in the arduous task of building up a new Highlander combination that will rank with John J. McGraw's National league champions so that he can divide the prestige in New York.

His club is in last place and will be there at the end of the season and this will afford him an opportunity to look over his pitching material in the fall games. Pieh may thus get in for a couple of games, and his best chance will probably come before the schedule closes.

This applies to Jack Rowan, who has gone to Cincinnati, and who has been a Redleg before. He will get a chance as the Cincinnati staff is very weak. Next to Wickland, Guy Tutweiler has probably played more games than any Central league recruit in the majors. He is naturally an outfielder, but Hugbey Jennings has been trying to make a first baseman of him and this has operated against him. With this handicap, however, he has been hitting in good form. With Cobb, Crawford and Veach in the outfield there is not much chance for him to break in.

Yesterday at Boston Jennings put Del Gainer back on first base after he had tried Tutweiler and Ed Onslow on the bag, and it is hard to tell just who will eventually land the berth.

Ed Pfeffer, who went up from Grand Rapids, has had just one chance and he made a good showing in spite of a defeat. He was hit nine times in the game but was beaten only by a run and the score was low, indicating that he was strong under fire and displayed courage when he was being batted pretty hard.

Abe Bowman has never been given a trial at Cleveland and it is likely that he will not get one. Cleveland is still entertaining some hope of landing the American league pennant and is tagging the Athletics by half a dozen games. Bowman is a green pitcher and there are just two things that will get him in. One is that the club may get so far ahead that there is no chance for it to loose and the other is that it may fall so far behind that there will be no possibility of winning. In either event he may pitch a game.

Charley Stewart and Eddie Roush have each played a few games with the Cubs and the White Sox respectively, but are adorning the bench and learning the ways of big league ball players. Both have hard jobs ahead of them.

It Eugene Hargrave gets behind the bat for the Cubs before the close of the season he will be lucky. With Archer, Brennahan and Needham in harness there is not much chance for a recruit unless he is a brilliant youngster, and none of the most ardent friends of the New Haven product claim this for him.

He will be looked over and placed next season where he can be educated for fast company. In the last few weeks of the season he may be tried out so that Chicago can determine his ability and decide where he will fit in best next year.

Bunny Fabrique, Ben Koehler, Tuddy Kroy and Charlie Pick, who were sent to the International, have about cinched places for next year.

YOUNGSTOWN AND ERIE MAY APPLY

Enterprising Owners Are Not Likely to Take Action as Final.

HOPED TO GET IN

It is possible that as soon as the announcement of the date of the fall meeting of the directors of the Central league finds its way to baseball headquarters in Erie and Youngstown, accompanied by the firm assurance of President Louis Hellbroner that there will be no expansion of the league, that there will be some tall hustling to have this action rescinded because the owners in these two cities want to get back into the game and an expanded Central league offers the best opportunity.

Paul Powers, owner of the Youngstown franchise in the exploded Interstate, and Tom O'Connor, at the head of the company that owned the Erie team, are both enterprising magnates who are deeply interested in the game and it is more than likely they will not take President Hellbroner's announcement as the last word in the matter.

Both towns have good baseball plants and plenty of money to recruit new clubs and the patronage in the cities has been excellent for the two last seasons but they were unfortunately hooked up with villages like Wheeling, Zanesville, Steubenville and Canton, with no chance to succeed in the game.

It would be a practical impossibility to include Erie, Pa., and Evansville, Ind., in the same league as the jump from one to the other cannot be made between games. Evansville led the league in attendance last season in spite of a tail-end club, so there is no chance to drop the city in favor of Erie or any other town. Without Erie Youngstown would be of no value to the league and it is most probable these two towns will have to look to some other quarter for baseball in 1914.

Mr. Hellbroner evidently knew what he was talking about when he said there would be no expansion, and no doubt has back of him the word of the Central league directors who have thought the matter over and reached the determination to stand pat.

There has been more or less talk following every season of the possibility of circuit changes and newspapers at both Youngstown and Erie have built strongly on the probability of increasing the Central to eight clubs and obtaining the additional places. They will be disappointed.

Every year there is more or less circuit building between the close of one season and the opening of another. This fall the Central league is on a more substantial basis than at any time since it was organized, and Mr. Hellbroner's policy of clamping the lid on speculation as to the cities that will be included in 1914 is evidently taken with the view of anticipating disquieting rumors that probably would have been circulated.

South Bend has not given birth to any new hopes so far but there is no doubt that a year out of baseball has done the city good, and another one without organized ball may result in the construction of a decent park and the formation of a company to finance a good club. However, it cannot hope to get a place in the league next year even if such an idea enters the minds of the few faithful fans left in the city.

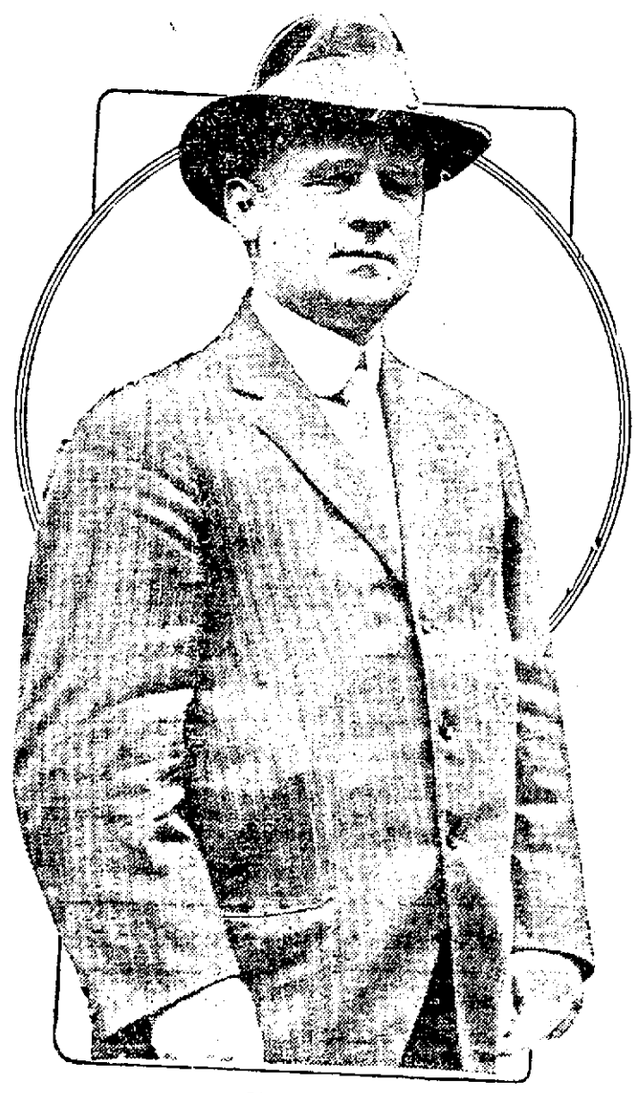
M'GRAW MADE A BLUFF AND IT WENT WITH THE OWNERS OF GIANTS.



JOHN J. M'GRAW.

John J. McGraw, of the New York Giants, is the highest priced manager in baseball.

McGraw receives $25,000 a year for managing the Giants. He will receive this sum for five years.

For the first time the inside story of the way in which McGraw was signed to this big contract is told. The story came from the lips of the little boss himself. And it reveals him as a man able to play the game of "bluff" off the field as well as on it.

McGraw demanded that sum. And one of the reasons he secured it was because he offered just one alternative—his resignation.

Here is what happened:

McGraw during the lifetime of John T. Brush was satisfied. The relations of the magnate and the manager were cordial. They understood each other. McGraw knew what to expect and the two went along very pleasantly. On the death of Mr. Brush new men came to the head of the club. McGraw's contract had but a short time to run. So he visited the offices of the ball club in New York.

It is said there were no preliminaries. The scrappy manager said he had come to resign. The officials couldn't understand the proceeding. They asked McGraw if he wasn't satisfied. He answered that he was not. They wanted him to go into details, to state his grievances.

As the story goes Brush had assured McGraw that his faithfulness would be rewarded and that he would be remembered in his will. When the will was opened McGraw was not included, so far as a piece of the club was concerned. He had worked long and hard to bring the club to the top and the failure of Brush to make good so angered him that resignation was his intent.

Then came the opening. They wanted to know whether there was not some way by which he could be retained; if there were not some circumstances which would cause him to reconsider his determination.

The fighting boss answered that there was. He stated that if his salary was increased to $25,000 a year and the contract ran for five years that he would sign a new contract then and there.

They demurred. McGraw was getting in the neighborhood of $18,000. It was pointed out that this was rather a heavy increase. McGraw admitted the fact, but stated that $25,000 a year for five years was his price. The new heads were cornered. They really didn't know what to do. McGraw wouldn't relent. Muggsy demanded action.

A new contract was drawn up. McGraw was handed a pen. He affixed his signature and went out of the office of the New York ball club the highest salaried man connected with the playing end of the game.

The story comes straight from the little Napoleon, as they sometimes call him, himself.

In those five years McGraw will be paid $125,000. And you can wager it isn't one of those baseball contracts that permit a club owner to turn player, salary and all over to some other club or give him his unconditional release, with the salary ceasing on the day that it goes into effect.

It's $25,000 a year for five years, rain, shine, thunder, lightning, first place, last place, top of the second division or last place in the first.

NOTES OF THE SHAMROCKS.

Bluffton is coming over strong Sunday to see Walter Scott and McKinnie working as a battery against the Fort Wayne Shamrocks. Both of these lads are home products and the former has been with Howard Holmes at Saginaw and the latter catching for one of the clubs in the Mountain States league.

Louis Scott is in charge of the team, and the pitcher is a brother to Walter Scott, of the St. Paul club.

Diedrick, who will pitch for the Shamrocks, is Dick III. There are three pitchers in the family. One was called big Dick, another little Dick, and there's nothing left but the third for this one. He has just returned from a good season in the Central association.

Billy Strawbridge and Fink, who have been playing with Warsaw, will finish the season with the Shamrocks.

ELKS ELECT THEIR OFFICERS.

Bowlers are Ready to Open Season and Prospects are Excellent.

Prospects for a good bowling league among the members of the Fort Wayne lodge of Elks are better than they have been at any time since the construction of the alleys at the West Berry street temple and preliminary plans were made for launching a league at a meeting held last night at which the following officers were chosen:

President—Harry Banke.
Secretary—Charles A. Niebergall.
Treasurer—Peter Krill.

Eight clubs will be formed from the best bowlers in the order and a second league may be organized afterward. For several years the Elks have been developing material and it is believed now a point has been reached where an excellent lot of material is available.

DOAK WINS A BATTLE.

Whitey Doak, who went to the St. Louis Nationals after the Interstate league blew up last summer, pitched a high class duel against Eppa Rixey at Philadelphia yesterday and won out.

Jimmy Austin, old Dayton third baseman, who was recently placed in charge of the St. Louis Browns, sent his team to victory over the Highlanders.

Washington beat Cleveland for the third straight but Philadelphia was beaten by Chicago and the Naps didn't lose any ground.

WILL SHIP HALF DOZEN CARS HERE

Pike Attractions and Show Horses Coming from Indianapolis.

WILL BE AT THE FAIR

That he will ship five or six carloads of pike attractions, light harness horses, pet stock and show horses from the state fair at Indianapolis to Fort Wayne's biggest fair scheduled for next week opening Tuesday and closing Saturday is the statement of Manager Strieder, who left this morning for Indianapolis, where he will spend today and tomorrow calling on the exhibitors at the state show. Each year Fort Wayne secures a number of attractions from the state fair, but this year Mr. Strieder says that he believes from letters of inquiry he has received that he will secure an unusually large shipment out of Indiana's crack fair. Soxie Lyons will "make" the Goshen fair and William A. Tonkel and Frank A. Martin will both attend the Huntington and the Van Wert fairs this week to secure attractions of all character for the Fort Wayne show. Fair people are a peculiar lot, booking from one week to the next and refusing to make engagements a month ahead as other business men would. The local show has about sold out its pike space, which is an unusual condition, as the Friday and Saturday just before the fair opens are the days that the inquiries for space flood into the office. This year some concessionmen that want to show in Fort Wayne are going to get a sad bumping as the late rush will find all the seats taken.

The International Harvester company has booked its entire state fair exhibit for the local show. It is the first time in years that this big manufacturer of farm machinery has had a show at the local fair and it is being booked in this year only because the coming fair promises to be exactly what it is advertised, namely, "Fort Wayne's Biggest Fair." A complete line of farm implements from a rake to a threshing machine will be shown and demonstrated on the grounds.

Another interesting exhibit in the mechanical line that has been booked for the fair is the boat show to be given by the Gunkel company, in which the motor boats and boat motors made by that company will be demonstrated in an unique manner.

WILL HAVE STRAIGHT NOSE.

Dayton, O., Sept. 11.—Erve Martin will not have a crooked nose as the result of the accident at Springfield Sunday, when the member was broken. Prompt attention enabled the doctors to straighten out the member so that the Vet infielder will not be disfigured. The nose may hook a little after the bones knit, but the patient has been assured that he will look natural when he removes the bandages.

Only Living Sailor Who Helped Us Win Cup Tells About Great Race 62 Years Ago.

CAPT. THOMAS LASHMAR, WHO TELLS OF THE GREAT RACE HE SAILED IN 1851.

(BY WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD.)

(Special Correspondence.)

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Sept. 11.—The American cup, for which Sir Thomas Lipton intends to make another race in 1914, is 62 years old, and during its existence it has spent every minute in America.

There's a man alive today, and I've found him, who was a member of the crew that won that American cup. He is the only known survivor of that race and, strange to say, he is an Englishman. His name is Capt. Thomas Lashmar and his age is 83.

"Don't I remember that race?" he said. "And what a ship that first America was!

"I was 21 years old and I lived in the Isle of Wight. I had heard that a cup had been put up for an international race around the island. As the time for the race grew near there was intense excitement in yachting circles all over Europe. There were eighteen boats entered, but only fifteen sailed.

"I remember seeing the America come into the harbor at Cowes. Her spars had a slant, a new thing to us English sailors. She was long and had splendid lines.

"The America's sails were made of cotton, and Englishmen had always used flax. The sails were laced to the boom, which was another new idea.

"Ah, she set a new style in yachts, did the America. They don't build any better boats, even today, for running with the wind. I'd have gone around the world in her.

"My, but I was a happy lad when Colonel Shenley, on whose schooner I was employed, told me that he had lent me to the America and that I was to be a member of the racing crew.

"It was a queer day, as far as the wind was concerned. At 10 o'clock in the morning all fifteen ships started at the sound of the gun. Some of them immediately got a good wind; some got no wind at all. There was no handicap and no time was set for completing the race. The yacht started eastward, under a wind from the west.

"From the very start the America began to pass other boats and soon there were only four boats ahead of her, the Beatrice, the Aurora, the Volante and the Arrow.

"Dick Brown, the sailing master of the America, had put in a jibboom, but it was in his way. His boat, too, was so long that he was afraid to hug the shore, as the other boats did. He was a wonderful sailor, however. It wasn't very long before he had overhauled the other four boats and was leading them all by several miles.

"We had one scare in the afternoon, though, when the wind died down. There was a tide against us, and we were so far out that it affected us more than the other boats. The Aurora and the Arrow, keeping in shore, almost caught up with us.

"The Arrow, however, went aground and was out of the race. The Aurora was doing some wonderful work, but the wind freshened and we ran away from her.

"Between Ventnor and St. Catherine's the jibboom broke and fell off into the water, dragging its sails with it. We got the wreckage onto the deck and after that we sailed even better.

"The America rounded the needles, nine miles away from the finish, at twenty minutes to six in the evening, but the wind fell, and it took us until twenty-three minutes to nine to reach Cowes a winner. It was almost dark. Twenty minutes later the Aurora came in, but some of the other ships didn't reach the finish line until the next day.

"All my life I've had a liking for America just because I helped Americans win the cup."

"How would you like to see the cup race in 1914?" I asked.

"I'm through with the water," he said, "and with traveling. But you can be sure I'll read all about it in the papers.

"I think Sir Thomas Lipton has a better chance this time than he's ever had before."

LIKE "DUCKY" HOLMES.

Saginaw's New Manager Made a Hit With the Patrons of Game.

They evidently like "Ducky" Holmes up in Saginaw and are rather proud of the way he provided good baseball this summer. The following excerpt from an issue of the Saginaw Daily News contains a nice boost for him:

"It's all over; to the moth balls with the uniforms, as these are not needed in the stove league pennant race. The Ducks have landed in the first division and 'Ducky' Holmes has made good in his managerial debut.

"The former Central league star came into the circuit with nothing. He had to build up an entirely new aggregation and go into the fight against long organized machines. Bay City was on the same footing as Saginaw, and the down-river club finished in the cellar.

"In selecting his original crowd there were, of course, a few men who failed to come up to their spring practice showing. Ducky showed his sincerity by weeding out these men as soon as he became convinced that they were lacking. He had a strong pitching staff, but his infield was booting away games. He gradually bolstered his defense with the addition of Bashang, Manning, Jansen, Sensenbach and Pendry, and it became as strong as any in the league.

"But here came another bad break. With the team hitting and fielding well, the pitching staff collapsed and the conditions of the first part of the season were reversed. The men made many runs but the opponents were making more.

"Jones alone stood up, and to this twirler much credit is due. He won 25 games of the 66 credited in favor of the Ducks. Schwenk failed to come up to expectations and Scott was far from his 1912 form, when he led the league."

FORT WAYNE DOCTORS HAVING GREAT SUCCESS

STILL OFFER FREE EXAMINATION.

The United Specialists have built a wonderful practice in Fort Wayne since they established their institute at 124 East Washington boulevard.

They certainly have earned their success, as the many testimonials given them by people right here in the city and neighboring towns have proven. Their work is undoubtedly a great boon to the afflicted. These specialists examine any person who is in earnest free of charge.

Of course it is hardly necessary to call attention of the readers of these columns to the many letters voluntarily published in this paper by many of their patients. Perhaps the most gratifying part of their endorsement comes from the many men who have been treated for years by other physicians and specialists without results. A number of these cases have been entirely cured within from one to three weeks. All this simply proves that the cure of chronic diseases depends on the ability to properly diagnose any condition and knowing what to do for the case after it has been properly diagnosed.

Since these specialists are establishing permanent institutions here, they are depending on the reputation gained by cured patients to maintain their wonderful practice. Perhaps no institution has gained such a wonderful reputation for cures in so short a time as have the United Specialists. The truly wonderful part of this is that they make no wonderful pretenses themselves in the newspapers, but the great bulk of their business has been referred to them or has come from the many published letters from people who have been treated by them.

The United Specialists have kept themselves abreast of every advance in medical science and have proven to many people of Fort Wayne that many so-called surgical diseases can be cured through the scientific administration of medicine. Of course, the successful treatment of disease must depend on a thorough understanding of any case and an absolute diagnosis of the conditions. These specialists through years of experience and their wonderful mechanical equipment can diagnose correctly nearly every doubtful and deep-seated condition.

The United Specialists have received numbers of testimonials from the citizens of Fort Wayne and vicinity.

Many men who had formerly been treated for years have asked the United Specialists to refer other men to them. They treat all chronic and nervous diseases, including Goitre, Rheumatism, All Stomach and Intestinal Troubles, Rectal Diseases, Epilepsy and all Special Diseases of Men and Women.

Their offices are located at 124 East Washington Blvd. They will examine the afflicted free of charge. They accept no incurable cases. Their hours are from 9-12, 1-5, 7-8 and 9-12 Sunday. —Adv.

COMMUNICATION FROM CITY CONTROLLER.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 9, 1913.

To the Common Council.

Gentlemen: I am sending you herewith a communication from the board of public works requesting an appropriation of two thousand ($2,000.00) dollars to the maintenance and repair of streets account.

I would recommend that this appropriation be made.

Yours very truly,
W. S. CUTSHALL,
Controller.

Received and spread on record.

COMMUNICATION FROM BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 9, 1913.

Mr. W. S. Cutshall, City Controller.

Dear Sir: Will you please arrange for an appropriation of two thousand dollars to the maintenance and repair of streets account, which amount will be necessary to carry us to the end of the year. There has been unusual heavy withdrawals on the account due to the floods of last spring, which have damaged a number of streets, among same being Third street, on which the city alone spent approximately one thousand dollars; also many other streets with the exception of Lakeside, these streets having been taken care of by the emergency fund. We will call your attention to the fact that a number of repairs were made to streets and paid out of this fund, caused by the waterworks department and the gas company cutting into the streets for service lines. However these departments have been billed for same and when collected will be turned into the general fund.

Respectfully yours,
G. A. SCHWEGMAN,
GEO. H. LOESCH,
E. J. LENNON,
Board of Public Works.

Honorable Common Council.

Gentlemen: We are herewith sending you for your approval a certain contract entered into by and between the city of Fort Wayne and the Berghoff Brewing association for the construction of a spur track on Wabash avenue, from the track of the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company on Washington boulevard east to the plant of the Berghoff Brewing association.

Respectfully yours,
G. A. SCHWEGMAN,
GEO. H. LOESCH,
E. J. LENNON,
Board of Public Works.

COMMUNICATION FROM BOARD OF PUBLIC SAFETY.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 9, 1913.

Honorable Common Council.

Gentlemen: We are sending to you this evening an ordinance asking for the authority to employ a captain of detectives and two more sergeants. We have enough money in our police force pay roll account to pay the salaries of these men for the balance of this year. The salaries for these officers for next year has already been provided for in the controller's estimate for 1914. Trusting you will give this ordinance your favorable consideration, that we may make our department more efficient now, we remain,

Very respectfully,
J. C. HUTZELL,
MARION B. JOHNSON,
W. D. HENDERSON,
Board of Public Safety.

Received and spread on record.

COMMUNICATION FROM BOARD OF SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

To the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Fort Wayne, Indiana.

The undersigned trustees of the school city of Fort Wayne, respectfully petition your honorable body for permission to purchase lots 329, 328, 327, and the east half of the alley adjoining said lot 327, all in Hanna's addition to the city of Fort Wayne, Allen county, Indiana, at a cost of approximately twenty-three thousand ($23,000) dollars.

We would further petition your honorable body for permission to erect on said real estate a school building to cost approximately one hundred thousand $(100,000.00) dollars, and to enter into a contract for the erection of such building.

The necessity of the purchase of this ground and the erection of such building is because of the need of a school building in this location. The old Harmer building is the oldest school building in the city, out of date and in bad condition. It would have been replaced several years ago if the financial condition of the school city would have permitted; now the board of trustees sees its way clear to purchase the ground and erect the building thereon.

The school ground now owned by the school city at the corner of Harmer street, upon which is located the present Harmer school, is insufficient in dimension for a school building in that school district, and the board does not feel justified in erecting a building costing approximately one hundred thousand dollars without first procuring more ground. In procuring this ground it will give the school city a depth east and west of one hundred eighty-one (181) feet, and frontage on Harmer street of three hundred fourteen (314) feet. The building then will face Hayden park and this, the board believes, will be a much more desirable location than to locate the new building on Jefferson street.

The undersigned board of school trustees further request permission to purchase lots 2, 3, 6 and 7, Nimde's addition to South Wayne, now city of Fort Wayne, Allen county, Indiana, for the purpose of erecting thereon a building for high school manual training and other educational purposes. This property can be acquired for twenty-six thousand ($26,000) dollars, which price the board thinks not unreasonable.

The necessity for the purchase of this ground at this time arises from the overcrowded condition of the present high school building. The board has carefully gone over the matter of location and has concluded that the lots herein described are the most available that can be procured at this time.

The said lots are located on the corner of Pontiac and Fairfield avenue, which is as central as can be obtained in the south part of the city. Real estate in that part of the city is rapidly increasing in value and the board for that reason and for the reason of the scarcity of available sites, deems it advisable to purchase at this time. The erection of the building will have to be deferred for at least another year.

Respectfully submitted,
E. W. COOK,
President.
JESSE MACBETH,
Treasurer.
W. H. SHAMBAUGH,
Secretary.
Board of School Trustees.

MOTION.

I move that the request of the board of school trustees to buy property and erect a new building at the Harmer street site be granted, and that the request for permission to purchase property at the corner of Fairfield avenue and Pontiac street be referred to committee on education.

ALLEN HAMILTON.

The second party, if it desires to avail itself of the benefits of the authority herein granted, shall cause said track to be constructed and completed within a year from date hereof. Said work of constructing said track, when started, shall be completed within sixty days from the time the same is commenced and within the period of one year hereinbefore specified. But if said second party is prevented from complying with the conditions herein contained by reason of any court proceedings, said Board of Works will grant a reasonable extension of time as to any one of the above provisions.

Said track to be constructed and maintained at all times so as to conform with the established grade of the street and alley hereinbefore named, as such grade shall from time to time exist, and so as not to in any way be an impediment to the ordinary and proper use thereof for all purposes of the public in passing along upon and across said tracks at any point thereon, and subject at all times to be taken up and relaid by said second party at its expense for the purpose of regrading, paving, re-paving or repairing said street and alley, and for the purpose of constructing or repairing sewers, laying or repairing water mains or other pipes or for other public improvements, and whenever in the opinion of the board it becomes necessary to require said tracks to conform to the grade, or to remove the same for any of the public improvements hereinbefore enumerated, said first party shall notify said second party that it is in the opinion of the board necessary to take up said track, or such portions thereof as may be necessary for such purpose, and that second party shall take up and relay said track for the purposes specified in the notice within such time as said first party in said notice may require. If said second party accepts the conditions herein contained and constructs said track, it agrees, at its own expense, to pave between the rails of said track and on either side thereof for a distance of 150 feet with such material as the balance of the street may be paved with, and in accordance with the plans prepared by the City Engineer and approved by the first party, and will, at its own expense, pave Wabash Avenue to the width of 36 feet from the intersection of Washington Boulevard East to a point two feet south of where the track herein granted crosses the west street line of Wabash Avenue. Said pavement to be laid according to the plans to be prepared by the City Engineer and approved by first party, and to be done concurrently with, or as nearly concurrently with the construction of the track as possible.

If the streets or alleys are hereafter repaved, said second party shall pay for so much thereof as lies between the rails of said track and for the space of two feet on either side thereof, and if the pavement shall be reconstructed second party shall so relay the track as to conform to the new grade of the street or alley, all at the expense of said second party, including a six-inch concrete foundation under the ties of said track, and shall keep the part of the street and alley so paved by it as aforesaid in good condition. All of the tracks to be so constructed as not to interfere with the drainage of surface water on Wabash Avenue or Washington Boulevard East, or the alley south of said boulevard, and be constructed under the supervision of and as required by said first party.

Said second party shall not at any time haul, or allow to be hauled, to exceed two cars over and along the part of the track herein described, and shall not load or unload any cars, or leave the same standing upon the streets or where the track may cross the sidewalks entering the alley, and will not use said track for switching purposes except between the hours of 8 p. m. and 6 a. m. except as such additional permission may be granted by said first party.

The provisions of this contract shall be binding on the successors and assigns of the party of the second part.

BOWSER PLANT TO BE BIGGER

City Permits Issued for Two Additions, Each 80x 90 Feet.

WAGE ARBITRATORS TAKE UP LABORS

Six Men Meet in New York to Settle Railway Controversy.

Building permits were issued this morning to S. F. Bowser & Company to erect two additions to the big oil tank and pump factory on Thomas street and Creighton avenue. One of these is an extension of the heavy boiler shop 80 feet wide and 90 feet long, which will make the total dimensions of this department 80x400 feet. The other addition will be an 80x90 foot extension of the building wherein the lighter tank work is performed, making this department have dimensions of 80x400 feet also. These improvements are to cost in the neighborhood of $20,000 and they will enable the company to better handle the business at the factory, which at present is beyond the capacity of the plant. An improvement that will cost in the neighborhood of $30,000 is the installation in the entire plant of a sprinkler fire protection system. This is nearly completed in the present plant and as soon as the additions mentioned in the foregoing lines are up, the sprinkler system will be extended to the new building also. The management of S. F. Bowser & Company is pleased with business conditions. "This is decidedly the best summer we ever had," said one of the officials. "The sales have already reached the $3,000,000 point and we have reason to believe they will pass $4,000,000 before the end of the year." The two buildings to be erected this fall will facilitate the output so as to make additional sales possible. They will be located at the southwest corner of the plant, on Thomas street.

ARBITRATORS AT WORK.

Six Men Will Settle Wage Controversy.

New York, Sept. 11.—The six arbitrators appointed under the amended Erdman act of congress invited to this city today representatives of the trainmen and conductors of eastern railroads as the first witnesses in the public hearings of demands for a new working arrangement with the railroads, including general wage increases.

The hearings opening today will probably continue for several weeks.

The six arbitrators are A. H. Smith, vice president of the New York Central railroad, and W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania, representing the railroads; Daniel L. Cates, editor of The Railway Trainman, and Lucius E. Sheppard, vice president of the Order of Railway Conductors, representing the trainmen and conductors, and Seth Low, president of the National Civic Federation, and John H. Finley, president of the college of the city of New York, representing the public.

The award of the arbitrators under the law must be made within forty-five days after its first meeting, and in case the board is not unanimous a majority if its members cannot render a binding award.

PROBABLY 100 YEARS OLD.

Ancient Bayonet Unearthed by Pennsy Steam Shovel.

While at work in cutting down the hill east of the Pennsylvania round house a few days ago the big steam shovel encountered in a nine-foot bank what appeared to have been a "cache" of either Indians or soldiers during the war between the whites and the red men many years ago. Five or six feet from the hilltop the earth appeared to have been disturbed at one time and pieces of metal were noticed in it. One of the pieces is a bayonet used in early days on flintlock rifles. This fell aside as the shovel of dirt was deposited on a car and one of the men picked it up and gave it to Coal Dock Foreman Streibig. No futher examination of the grounds was made and the earth was put on cars and dumped along the tracks outside the city. When asked why he didn't look for other relics, the man who was on the car when the "cache" was plowed through said: "We are excavating for new yards and not relic hunting." The bayonet is minus about five inches of the end of the blade, and is rust-eaten, but it is in a fair state of preservation considering the many years it was buried in the earth. The point where it was found is about 200 feet northeast of the Pennsylvania coal docks, where the elevated ground is being removed to a level of the main tracks for mammoth storage and parking yards for locomotives, coal and material cars at the round house. Also for a "Y" on which locomotives and cars can be turned without sending them to the turntable within the round house enclosure.

FOUND THE TOWN QUARANTINED.

Capt. Thomas Toomey and his wife have returned from Milford, Ind., where they attended the reunion of the Thirteenth Indiana regiment of which Capt. Toomey was a member during the war of the rebellion. Milford was under strict quarantine because of the alarming prevalence of diphtheria, and the soldiers were forbidden to hold their campfires, which are the chief features of a reunion. As a result they conducted the routine business and spent several hours in talking in groups about the city and then left for home. Eighty survivors were at the reunion, four of them members of Capt. Lawton's company, including Capt. Toomey, George Wilber, the latter a well known farmer residing out on the Maysville road, and Ramson Allen, of Ossian. There are but few members of thee Thirtieth living and each year brings a reduction in the ranks. Last year eighteen members died.

WILL ORGANIZE CLUB.

A movement has started to organize a motor boat club at Lake James and is being met with enthusiasm by all interested parties, and particularly by Fort Wayne people who spend more or less time during the summer months at that popular resort. William Seidel, of Fort Wayne, has been selected as temporary chairman and a committee consisting of L. D. Nordstrom and F. G. Duryee, of Fort Wayne, and Prof. C. C. Sherard, of Angola, has been appointed to complete the organization. The object of the club is to improve the boating and other conditions at Lake James. The movement is particularly interesting to railway and shop men in Fort Wayne, because so many of them spend their vacations at this popular resort.

WILL HAVE LAWN SOCIAL.

Kekionga division, No. 51, Ladies Auxiliary to the Order of Railway Conductors, will hold a lawn social Friday evening at the home of Mrs. W. A. Current, 2111 Oliver street. All friends are invited and promised hospitable treatment.

GONE EAST ON VISIT.

Blacksmith H. Limbach, of the Pennsylvania, and his wife have gone to Massillon, O., to spend a week with relatives and friends. They once lived in that city.

H. A. Christen, machinist in the Pennsylvania erecting shop, is off duty pending treatment for a scalded arm. The injury was received last Thursday, but did not develop into anything serious until yesterday, when the wound became infected.

B. W. Baldwin, who has taken employment with Krause & Apfelbaum, grain and wool merchants at Columbia City and Fort Wayne, was formerly agent at South Whitley for the Nickel Plate. He will have headquarters in Fort Wayne and is now preparing to move his family here.

General Manager A. Z. Polhamus, of S. F. Bowser & Company, is looking after the interests of the company in New York and Boston and will not return until the latter part of next week. Business connected with the Wilmington, Dela., and the Philadelphia offices of the company has taken W. G. Zart east also.

Arrangements have been completed whereby the Vandalia will accept Wabash mileage between Toledo and Montpelier. The Wabash owns that stretch of road, but leased it to the Vandalia when the latter put on the Toledo-St. Louis passenger line several months ago. This announcement was made by Supt. Sullivan Monday.

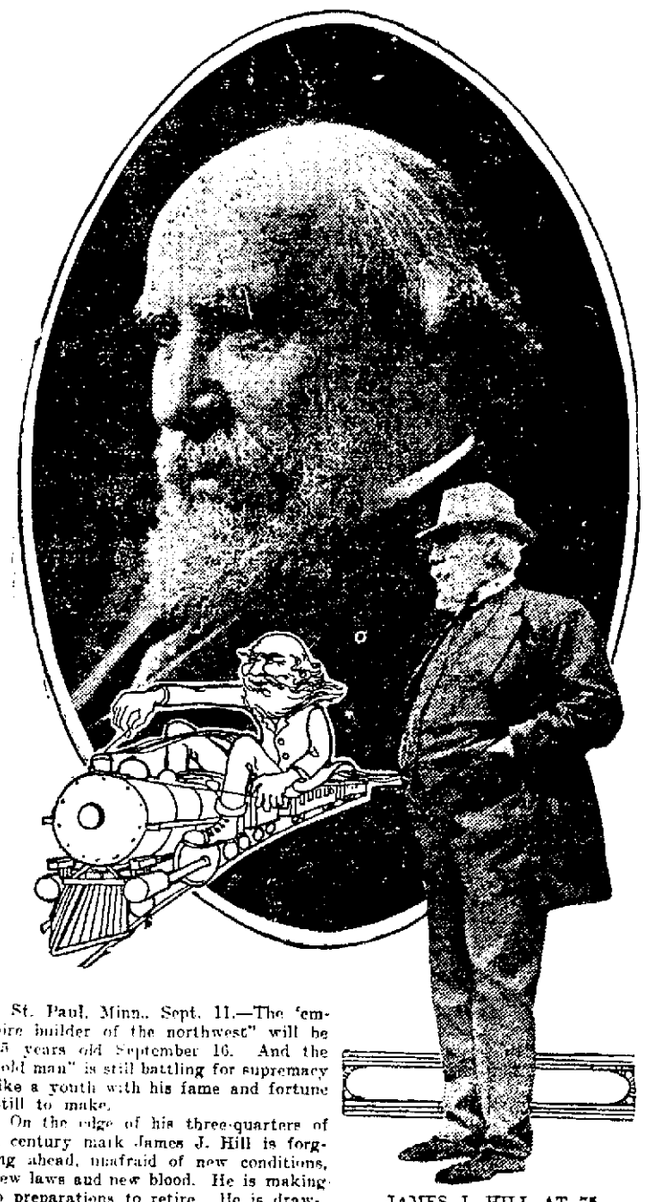
WILL RETURN TO ANARTIC.

London, Sept. 11.—J. Foster Stackhouse, who was intimately associated with the late Captain Scott in organizing the fateful expedition to the south pole, is arranging for another trip to the Antarctic. The plans are for the expedition to start from London in August, 1914, to explore King Edward VII. land. It is expected the explorers will be away for nearly two years, sailing in the steam yacht Polaris, especially built for navigation in polar regions.

HE'S THREE-QUARTERS OF A CENTURY OLD, AND STILL BATTLTING!



JAMES J. HILL AT 75.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 11.—The "empire builder of the northwest" will be 75 years old September 16. And the "old man" is still battling for supremacy like a youth with his fame and fortune still to make.

On the edge of his three-quarters of a century mark James J. Hill is forging ahead, unafraid of new conditions, new laws and new blood. He is making no preparations to retire. He is drawing no will to perpetuate his wealth. He isn't appearing before any investigating committees. He never has a doctor, never goes to Europe, eats anything he likes, and works on and on without end.

This year he bought the First National bank of St. Paul and increased its capital from $1,000,000 to $3,000,000, and its surplus from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000. He bought the Second National bank, with deposits of $4,000,000, and merged it with the First National bank. He bought the Northwestern Trust company of St. Paul and put $1,000,000 more in capital and surplus into it.

He is building a $1,000,000 reference library for the people of St. Paul.

Hill was born at Guelph, near Rockwood, Ontario, Canada, September 16, 1838. His parents were ordinary Irish peasants. He came to St. Paul in 1865 and secured work as a shipping clerk.

He started in business as a steamboat and railway agent within a year, and in 1870, with a partner, built a steamboat for transportation on the Red River of the North. This brought him into direct competition with the Hudson Bay company, but he pushed his own trade so hard that the company combined with him and put him in charge of its transportation business.

In 1873 his opportunity came. The St. Paul and Pacific railway, of which Hill had been transfer agent, went into the hands of a receiver. In 1878 the famous Montreal agreement was drawn up among four men—James J. Hill, Donald A. Smith, George Stephen and Norman W. Kittson. They secured possession of the road by purchase of bonds and a foreclosure.

Not only does Hill control the Great Northern railroad, but his say goes in the Northern Pacific, the Burlington, the Erie and the Great Northern Steamship company, which runs from Seattle to the orient.

The ore properties controlled by Hill are valued at $600,000,0000. It is said that in order to use the vast amount of ore he will soon be found competing with the United States Steel corporation.

NOTHING NEW TO FIND ON EARTH

Future Exploration Says Scientist Must Be Utilitarian.

FOOD PROBLEM VITAL

Birmingham, Eng., Sept. 11.—The day of striking geographical explorations passed with the finding of the earth's two poles; the geographer of the future will have as his field the vital questions of supplying and distributing food and clothes to the world, is the opinion of H. N. Dickson, president of a section of the British Association for the Advancement of Science. Mr. Dickson so asserted in an address delivered today before the association. Foremost of these questions, Mr. Dickson believes, will be that of growing wheat enough for the world's bread. A host of problems of the future are marshalled behind this, among them being the questions of obtaining power and energy sufficient to operate the needed increase in factories, the fuel question and the distribution of population. Within a century, he estimates, the resources of the world will be taxed to their full capacity.

The Problem of the Future.

"Civilized man is, or ought to be, beginning to realize," Mr. Dickson said, "that in reducing more and more of the surface of the earth to what he considers a habitable condition, he is making so much progress and making it so rapidly that the problem of finding suitable accommodations for his increasing numbers must become urgent within a few generations. We are getting into the position of the merchant whose trade is constantly expanding and who foresees that his premises will shortly be too small for him. In our case removal to more commodious premises elsewhere seems impossible—we are not likely to find a means of migrating to another planet—so we are driven to consider means of rebuilding on the old site and so making the best of what we have that ours may not suffer.

"In the type of civilization with which we are most familiar there are two fundamental elements, supplies of food energy and supplies of mechanical energy. Since at the present, partly because of geographical conditions, these do not necessarily (or even in general) occur together, there is a third essential factor, the line of transport."

Wheat Acreage Does Not Keep Pace.

Mr. Dickson referred to the wheat acreage as not keeping pace with the increase in population.

"If properties based on population statistics are trustworthy," Mr. Dickson declared, "the crisis will be upon us before the end of the century. After that we must either depend upon some substitute to reduce the consumption per head or we must take to intensive farming of the most strenuous sort."

As to the world's coal supply, Mr. Dickson said that the largest fields would last barely three centuries even at the present rate of consumption. Of other fields yet undiscovered, he could, of course, make no reckoning.

"There must begin in the near future," Mr. Dickson continued, "a great equalization in the distribution of population. This equalization will arise from a number of causes, among them being intensive cultivation of the soil and more uniform distribution of manufactures.

Must Take Stock of Reasoning.

"What is wanted," he concluded, "is that we should seriously address ourselves to a stock-taking of our resources. We should rigorously proceed with the collection and discussion of geographical data of all kinds so that the major natural distributions shall be adequately known. Eventually we shall find that country-planning will become as important as town planning. In the meantime geographical knowledge will yield scientific results of much significance about such matters as distribution of population and industries and the degree of adjustment to new conditions which occurs or is possible in different regions and amongst different peoples."

MOTHER SEARCHES FOR BOY.

Son Has the Habit of Running Away Every Summer.

Muskogee, Okla., Sept. 11.—Cline Beardsley, a lad of 16, who lives at Wagoner, is on his annual runaway vacation and his mother is on her annual search for him. Young Beardsley has had the wanderlust since he was a baby. His mother says that since he was old enough to walk she had to tie him at home to keep him from running away.

For the past ten years he has made it a habibt to run away for a few weeks every summer. He leaves home without notice and leaves no intimation as to where he is going or when he will return. And every year an anxious mother spends most of these weeks searching for her boy.

This year he has been employed as messenger for a telegraph company. He disappeared with out notice and his mother has taken up her search as usual. She says she knows he will turn up all right when he gets tired of being a runaway, but in the meantime she expects to search until she locates him, just as she always has done.

POLICE FORCE ON STRIKE.

Pine Bluff, Ark., Sept. 11.—Pine Bluff's police force went "on strike" last night and while Chief of Police Stewart and his assistant patrolled the business part of the city Mayor Block took charge of the station. Inability to cash warrants for their pay fore more than two-thirds of their face value is given by the men as a reason for refusing to continue their duties.

A wireless system between Great Britain and Canada will be in operation next September.

A company has been formed in Copenhagen that will make it a business to clean and disinfect telephones.

FEW MOMENTS! NO INDIGESTION OR SICK STOMACH---PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN

Digests all food, absorbs gases and stops fermentation at once.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; your head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take Pape's Diapepsin, and in five minutes you will wonder what became of the indigestion and distress. Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps the stomach regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is astonishing. Please don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

TRUTH TRIUMPHS

Fort Wayne Citizens Testify for the Public Benefit.

A truthful statement of a Fort Wayne citizen given in his own words, should convince the most skeptical about the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills. If you suffeer from backache, nervousness, sleeplessness, urinary disorders or any form of kidney ills, use a tested kidney medicine.

A Fort Wayne citizen tells of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Could you demand more convincing proof of merit?

Mrs. Amanda Brown, 807 Douglas Ave., Fort Wayne, Ind., says: "Some months ago I used a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and I do not hesitate to recommend them. They act just as represented. My chief trouble was backache. A friend who had found quick relief from this complaint through the use of Doan's Kidney Pills advised me to try them. They strengthened my kidneys and gave relief."

Mrs. Brown is only one of many Fort Wayne people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mrs. Brown had, the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Generally favorable weather conditions in the spring crop region tended today to ease wheat. Cables, too, were bearish, influenced by cheaper and freer offerings for the Canada and Russia. The opening was ¼c to ⅜@½c lower. There was a slight further weakening and then a reaction to a little above the opening level.
The close was weak, ⅞c to 1⅛@1c under last night.
Corn sagged on account of good rains in the south and southwest. Local speculators furnished about the only support. Prices started ¼c to ⅝@¾c off and suffered some additional setbacks.
The close was weak at a net decline of 1⅛@1¼c to 1⅝@1¾c.
Absence of demand permitted oats to slide down with other grain. Sellers were fairly numerous.
In provisions the chief influence was a decided fall of prices at the yards.
First sales of packing house product showed a loss of 2½@5c to 17½c and there was additional weakness later.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Sept. 11.—Demand for stocks was less keen at the opening today, and while changes as a whole were irregular, a definite tendency downward was noticeable among the leading speculative mediums. Union Pacific, which rose buoyantly yesterday, showed the effect of realizing sales and fell back a point. Steel, Reading, Southern Pacific and Amalgamated were fractionally lower.
The demand for stocks which brought about yesterday's comprehensive movement, did not persist today, and prices worked downward steadily. The most pressing requirements of the shorts appeared to have been satisfied, and bull traders betrayed no inclination to follow up the rise of the previous session, preferring to take profits. The market was again governed largely by the action of Union Pacific, heaviness of which was a severe handicap in attempting individual speculative movements. Bonds were steady.
The market closed firm. Canadian Pacific, which had moved narrowly all the week, was suddenly bid up over two points. All other western stocks enjoyed renewed strength. Business was more active at the end of the session.

PROF. CARL KEISS

Takes a Chair in University of Missouri.

Prof. Carl Keiss, who spent the summer vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Keiss, of this city, has accepted the office of professor of astronomy of the University of Missouri and left yesterday for Columbia to assume that duty. Mr. Keiss, who is 25 years olod, is among the very few who attain the doctor's degree so early in life. Graduating from the Fort Wayne high school a few years ago, he attended and graduated from the Indiana university at Bloomington. Thence he went to California, where he took a combined course —practical and theoretical—at the University of California and the Lick observatory at Mt. Hamilton, graduating from those institutions last June. He was complimented after he graduated by a proposition to take a professorship with the University of California or the Lick observatory, both of which he declined. Later he was offered the professorship of astronomy of the University of Minnesota at Minneapolis and the University of Missouri at Columbia, and chose the latter.

Houses and Rooms For Rent

MANY people have rooms they could just as well rent as to allow to remain empty. They are rooms which the family seldom or ever uses but are kept furnished at more or less expense and which produce no revenue. Why not rent them and get the money? Others have houses which sometimes remain vacant for months because they do not let it become generally known that the houses are for rent. At this season of the year, when people are returning from vacations, and new people are coming to town, is an especially good time to make public the fact that these rooms or houses are for rent. How shall people be informed that these houses and rooms can be rented? It is very simple and very inexpensive. Use the classified advertising columns of The Sentinel.

POLL GIVES BUCK A BIG MAJORITY

Non-Partisan City Central Committee to Submit Reports.

LEADERS ENCOURAGED

Everything is in readiness for the third official meeting of the citizens' non-partisan central committee, to be held this evening in headquarters on East Berry street. Precinct committeemen in charge of polling the city have already started to send in their poll books, and one of the first tabulated reports submitted came this morning from the Sixteenth precinct, which shows that the non-partisan movement has a great following in that portion of the city.

The poll books give Charles H. Buck, the non-partisan candidate for mayor, 141 votes, against 38 open declarations for William J. Hosey, the democratic candidate, and of the total number only 3 declarations were made for William H. LaTourette, the straight ticket republican candidate for mayor. The socialists will claim at least 17 votes in the Sixteenth precinct, according to the poll books, and of the total number canvassed by the committeeman and his workers, 83 were in the doubtful list.

When a voter is listed in the doubtful class, according to those who have been engaged in the work of organizing the city, the chances are, that regardless of political affiliation, he is not a supporter of the candidates on his party's ticket, and that is one thing in favor of the non-partisan movement. While it is said that a majority of the precincts covered give Buck the best showing, many doubtful voters are encountered, showing that the men of the city are not allowing unjust press attacks and false argument to move them. They are doing their own thinking about this campaign.

Buck Sentiment Grows.

The candidacy of Charles H. Buck, Fort Wayne's first non-partisan candidate for mayor, is meeting the approval of voters in all walks of life and of all political belief in national party issues. In all parts of the city nothing but favorabe reports are heard by the non-partisan workers. Mr. Buck himself is enthusiastic, and is confident of is success in the forthcoming battle of ballots.

"I am going to give the people an administration that will simply make them want another one just like it," said Mr. Buck. "We will not have to devote more of our time to partisan affairs than we do to the management of municipal business. I will make my appointments entirely in point of efficiency, and not as a reward for political work done during the campaign."

Hosey Speakers Meet.

Chairman Stephen A. Callahan and members of his Hosey speaking committee met Wednesday evening at democratic headquarters on West Main street, in the building formerly occupied as an undertaking shop by Klaehn & Melching, and decided to open the Hosey speaking campaign sometime between September 20 and 25. As no definite date was selected for the campaign opening, another meeting will be held in the near future, at which time it is said, final arrangements for the campaign will be announced.

RERICK HEADS MOOSERS.

Lagrange Editor Temporary Chairman of District Progressives.

Announcement is made that R. H. Rerick, editor of the Lagrange Standard has been appointed district chairman of the Twelfth district progressives, to serve during the absence of Louis N. Litman, who has gone into business at Coffeyville, Kan. If Mr. Litman later decides to become a permanent resident of the western town, it is considered likely that Mr. Rerick will be appointed permanent chairman of the Roosevelt adherents. Mr. Rerick is one of the strongest progressives of the district and had an important part in the organization during the national campaign last autumn.

A Presbyterian deacon of Alton, Ill., recently brought suit against a brother deacon, whom he charged with slander in having accused him of working on the Sabbath day. The judge dismissed the case, holding that nobody could be injured by an accusation of having worked on the Sabbath day, as the Scriptures justified necessary labor on that day.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. THE $300,000 IS A SMALL PORTION

Fort Wayne Banks Could Easily Take Care of Trade Themselves.

WITHOUT U. S. FUNDS

According to directors, officials and others interested in finance in Fort Wayne, the local banking institutions can get along very easily without the $300,000 that the government has allotteds to this city as Fort Wayne's share of the $50,000,000 to be distributed throughout the country to assist in the movement of crops. It is said that there is not a bank in Fort Wayne that needs the least bit of assistance.

The fact is, that the $300,000 to be distributed here is a very minute portion of the total amount of currency sent out each fall by local national banks to their country correspondents, and they are able now to take care of the demand in just as easy a manner as they have been taking care of the crops in the past.

Definite announcement of Fort Wayne's share in the general distribution of government funds was made by Hon. William P. Breen, who was appointed some time ago to represent the treasury department in Fort Wayne. It is generally conceded that Indianapolis is to receive a half-million of the total of $1,050,000 allotted to Indiana. This gives Fort Wayne $300,000 and Evansville but $200,000.

The Fort Wayne money market is in excellent condition. Trade is active and business men in general are highly pleased over commercial conditions here. The $300,000 of government funds to be placed in the local national banks is just about a fair representation of the amount that is supplied country banks in a week or two. Fort Wayne is in the center of a highly productive agricultural territory, and is the drawing center for twenty surrounding counties in northern Indiana, western Ohio and southern Michigan.

CITY BREVITIES.

The board of directors of the Fort Wayne Country club will hold a meeting next Monday night at the Commercial club.

C. B. Mayer, of Indianapolis, an engineer with the Trussed Concrete Steel company of New York, was in the city yesterday looking over the work on the Sherman White warehouse which his firm is constructing.

W. W. Elston, of Angola, one of the many aspirants for the appointment of state fish and game commissioner, stopped over in Fort Wayne Wednesday evening, en route to his home after a visit at Indianapolis. He says he has the endorsement of Congressman Cyrus Cline and any number of other prominent democrats of the state.

A $730,000 company has been formed in England to install a motor bus service in and between the principal cities of the island, similar to the notably successful service of this kind in London. The new company proposes to start operations soon with vehicles supplied by the London General Omnibus company, Ltd., and to add to its fleet of omnibuses by new cars to be built in the same factory where the London company's cars were constructed.

HINTS and RECIPES

(By Mrs. Mary Miller.)

In my talks on "Hints and Recipes" I want to impress upon your minds the absolute necessity of good, pure materials. One cannot expect the delicious pastries called for in my recipes unless the very best materials are used. Experience has demonstrated that a poor quality of flavoring can utterly spoil the best recipe and for that reason I invariably recommend a brand that I know will be successful in my recipes.

WHITE CAKE.

Two-thirds cup butter, two cups sugar creamed together; one cup milk stirred in gently; two cups sifted flour, two teaspoons baking powder mixed in a third cup of flour; add the well beaten whites of five eggs and flavor with two teaspoonfuls SOUDERS' Vanilla.

CREAM COOKIES.

Two cups sugar, three eggs, one cup sour cream, one cup butter, one teaspoon soda, flour enough to make a soft dough, one teaspoon SOUDERS' Lemon.

SPICE CAKE.

One cup molasses, one cup sugar, one-half cup butter, two eggs, two teaspoonfuls vinegar, two teaspoonfuls soda and one-half teaspoon each of cloves, allspice and SOUDERS' Essence Cinnamon; one-half cup of strong boiled coffee and flour enough to make a stiff dough.

For further recipes see next Thursday's paper.

WIRELESS STRIKE ENDS.

Genoa, Italy, Sept. 11.—The strike of Italian operators of the Marconi wireless system here, who stopped work on Monday last because they had failed to obtain from the company certain demands, was settled today and the service was resumed.

The Best Supply company and the Pollak Waist company, both of Fort Wayne, have filed applications with the secretary of state, asking for trade marks.

CAN'T AFFORD TO HAVE KIDNEY TROUBLE.

No man with a family to support can afford to have kidney trouble, nor need he fear it with such a remedy at hand as Foley Kidney Pills. You can not take this honest curative medicine into your system without good results following. It cleans out and builds up the kidneys, and makes them able to strain out of the blood the impurities that cause backache, weak back, sore, inactive kidneys and sleep-disturbing urinary troubles.
